

COUNTY VOTE UNUSUALLY HEAVY

Herriot And Five Radicals Quit Doumergue Cabinet

PRECIPITATE NEW CRISIS WITH ACTION

Resignation Effective if Premier Asks for Vote of Confidence Thursday
WILL DEMAND CREDIT
Parliament Assembles for New Session Which May Be One of Importance

PARIS, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Edouard Herriot and five other radical members of the cabinet handed their resignations to Premier Gaston Doumergue today, precipitating a new crisis which may lead to resignation of the salvation government.

The resignations, effective only if Doumergue persists in asking for a vote of confidence Thursday on the government's plea for three months credit, came as parliament assembled for a new session which may be momentous for France and all Europe.

A tumultuous political situation has threatened to end the Doumergue government and lead to a request for dissolution of parliament, new elections and constitutional reform.

In addition to Herriot, the resignations were those of Ministers Berthod, Marchand, Bertrand, Queuille, and Lamoureux.

As soon as the radical deputies met today, Edouard Daladier attacked the Doumergue reform program but emphasized that Doumergue is not a candidate "today or tomorrow" for the premiership into which he was thrust to "save" France from political disaster.

Observers believed, however, that he was certain to resign if the radicals carried out their threatment from the cabinet. As a result it was believed a left-wing coalition cabinet would be formed with Herriot and Etienne Flandin jointly in command.

Doumergue replied to the radicals by announcing he would positively return to his retirement and refuse to form a new cabinet if the present political truce is broken.

It appeared that only a complete reversal by one side or the other could avoid a crisis tonight or tomorrow.

BELGRANO ASSUMES NEW LEGION DUTIES

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Frank N. Belgrano, of San Francisco, assumed national command of the American Legion today with announcement of a far-flung campaign "against all isms" except Americanism.

Belgrano said the Legion's educational program of Americanism not only will draw a record membership to the Legion ranks but will enlist the aid of persons not eligible to join the organization.

"Our country is filled today with too much talk about 'isms'," he said. "Everywhere we hear about Communism, Socialism, Fascism, Hitlerism and others too numerous to mention."

"Our Americanism program will show the necessity for a solid front in revival of the true meaning of patriotism and will attract support from all sources."

ALICE LONGWORTH WILL SELL HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, the "Princess Alice" of capital society, is offering her white stone mansion for sale, but has no intention of abandoning Washington as her home, friends said today.

Mrs. Longworth, widow of the late speaker of the house, was reported to be visiting in Cincinnati, but was expected to return here soon, to take up again the social life of which she has been a leader for 30 years.

COMING WEST

Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador to the United States, who will leave Washington today for a visit to the Pacific Coast.

FOUR PERSONS ARE KILLED AT BURBON RALLY

Republican Boss and Thirteen Members of Family Under Arrest

HAZELTON, Pa., Nov. 6.—(UP)—Seeking machine gun assassins who opened fire on a Democratic parade and killed three marchers and wounded 23, state police today arrested Joseph Bruna, Republican boss of Kline township, and 13 members of his family.

The shooting occurred last night in the mining village of Kelayes, chief community of the township and home of the Brunos. The arrested group, nine men and five women, were taken to Schuylkill county prison at Pottsville where they were held for investigation.

Feeling run high against the family is Kelayes, but there was no evidence linking the Brunos directly with the shooting.

The massacre, in the main street of Kelayes, climaxed a bitter political feud of several years standing that had fanned anew during the present campaign.

About 500 Democrats left the hall where they had held a rally and marched, singing and shouting, toward the main street. When the parade reached the street intersection where the Bruno home stands, hidden machine gunners suddenly opened fire from each side of the street. There were two bursts of fire from one side; one from the other.

Suddenly the village street was littered with the dead and wounded and the survivors were fleeing for their lives.

Two of the wounded were believed certain to die. Four others were in critical condition. The others will recover. Four of the wounded were women.

The dead: John Fiorelli, 65, William Forke, 32, John Golaki.

A few minutes after the shooting the paraders, who had fled, returned and picked up the dead and wounded. Ambulances and police arrived.

REMOVAL OF U.C.L.A. PROVOST DEMANDED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—(UP)—A petition demanding the removal of Provost Ernest Carroll Moore has been signed by approximately 100 members of the University of California at Los Angeles faculty staff, the Illustrated Daily News reported today.

The petition, the News said, will be presented to Dr. Robert G. Sproul, president of the University of California, before he completes his current investigation to the suspension of five U. C. L. A. student leaders. The students were suspended last week by Moore who said they were guilty of "radical activities" on the campus.

Sproul said he knew nothing of the reported faculty petition.

Record Vote Over Nation Is Reported

Success of Democrats is Indicated in General; 47 States Vote

(By the United Press)
GENERALLY favorable weather in the United States today indicated a record vote in one of the most important off-year elections in history.

Success of the Democratic party and the New Deal was indicated in general as voters went to the polls in 47 states. In various contests, however, Republican victories were predicted or conceded.

The first returns came from Ashford, Miss., which got up en masse at dawn to cast 22 votes for the gubernatorial candidate, 10 for the Democratic and one for the Independent. That was a three-vote gain for the Democrats.

The nation-wide balloting—excepting Maine, which already has voted a Democratic governor—was for 35 senators and 432 members of the house of representatives. It was considered the first nation-wide test of sentiment since President Roosevelt launched the New Deal.

Sunny weather prevailed in a majority of states. Early voting in New York and some other eastern states was out by rain at dawn. Clearing skies, however, spurred a heavy ballot later.

"Voting heavy" was the word from Detroit, Chicago, Albany, N. Y., Baltimore and other cities reporting early.

Despite predictions of most observers favoring the Democrats to retain control of the house and to register gains in the senate, interest was high in many states, especially in the California gubernatorial contest, the Pennsylvania senatorial election and the Lafayette campaign in Wisconsin.

Police took extensive precautions in almost every large city. Extra guards were placed at the polls and special details rounded up disorderly elements.

A Republican leader and his family were held at Hazleton, Pa., after an outbreak of pre-election disorder—an attack by gunmen on a political parade in which three were killed and at least 25 wounded.

The attachment was obtained on behalf of H. Deverly, assignee for Thomas B. Catton. The writ claimed the debt was incurred by Kingsford-Smith in 1923 at the time he was preparing to take off in the "Southern Cross" from Oakland to Australia.

J. S. W. Stannage, Sir Charles' flight manager, was angry at the proceedings.

"It looks like a publicity stunt," he said. "It's silly and idiotic. Sir Charles' debts then were paid by his backer, G. Allen Hancock."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador, announced today that he is leaving Washington tomorrow for a tour of inspection of German consulates in the west.

Luther called at the state department to inform acting secretary of State William Phillips of his plans. He will go first to Seattle, Wash., and then work down the Pacific coast to San Francisco and Los Angeles. He will then visit the consulates in the intermediate west—Gastonia, Texas, Kansas City, Mo., Denver, Colo., and other inland cities. He expects to be gone several weeks.

ARMOUR PRESIDENT PASSES IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(UP)—T. G. Lee, president of Armour and Company, died in Presbyterian hospital today after a four-month illness which followed an operation.

Lee, who was made president of Armour & Company in 1931, was operated upon for appendicitis last August. Complications set in and he had been confined to the hospital since that time.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Martha and Mrs. W. E. Graham, both of Chicago.

He became associated with Armour's in 1905 as a stenographer in the beef department, of which he assumed the management in 1906. In 1913 he was appointed sales manager for the Philadelphia territory and in 1921 was named manager of the greater New York district.

He returned to Chicago as a vice president of the company in 1926 and was advanced to the presidency in 1931, succeeding the late P. E. White.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—(UP)—The sleek, blue monoplane "Lady Southern Cross," which carried Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and Capt. P. G. Taylor from Brisbane, Australia, to Oakland, Calif., in three hops, was offered for sale today.

Sir Charles placed the ship on the auction block shortly after it was attached for a $1750 debt, allegedly incurred while he was preparing for his first trans-Pacific venture, the westward crossing.

"My first thought and concern is to repay my backers," the flyer said. "The cost of the flight from Brisbane was more than $30,000, including the ship itself. I have high hopes of raising the whole amount, however."

He was showered with offers for apportioning and other public engagements but these he waved aside temporarily until he could decide on his plans.

"One thing is certain, the plane is for sale," he said. "Much as I hate to part with my blue racer, I shall have to do it in order to repay my backers."

He denied published reports he planned to fly non-stop to New York. He said he opposed "such stunts, especially if there is no point in it."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND FAMILY CAST THEIR VOTES

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 6.—(UP)—Motoring to the town hall in a heavy downpour, President Roosevelt, with members of his family, cast his ballot for Governor Herbert H. Lehman and others on the Democratic ticket today.

When the chief executive, with his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt, and a group of friends entered the hall where photographers had set up bright lights and cameras the President said: "How do you like working under Kleig lights?"

A woman election inspector's reply was: "Name please."

Everybody laughed and then the President walked to the voting booth and cast his ballot.

"Did you vote the straight Democratic ticket?" he was asked.

"My reply to that is Ha Ha Ha," he remarked.

The President declined to discuss the election and indicated he would not have anything to say at tomorrow's press conference.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(UP)—The national textile labor relations board today demanded that textile manufacturers live up to their promises to the government and reemploy workers who participated in the nationwide textile strike.

The board demanded further that evictions of workers from "company houses" be stopped.

In a formal statement, Judge Walter P. Stacy, chairman, and Admiral Henry A. Wiley, member of the board said that they were "still receiving numerous complaints that strikers are not being rehired and that many are being evicted from company houses."

"The strike cannot be satisfactorily ended and peace restored to the textile industry until all workers who left the plant during the strike and who did not engage in lawless violence are returned to their former position," they added. "This is a fundamental issue which must be met."

"The board expects the industry to reemploy those who were in the mills before the strike without further delay and without discrimination."

"Other important matters concerning the industry demand the attention of the board and should receive it."

The statement pointed out that it has been six weeks since the strike of September, 1934, was "officially terminated."

It observed that in the majority of mills those who went out on strike have been taken back without question, but that there were several instances of injustices to workers.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(UP)—The United Press learned today that Hoover has submitted his 117 page formal report on his findings of the disaster to Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper.

A copy of the report was rushed by a special agent to United States Attorney Martin Conboy, of New York in connection with possible criminal proceedings.

The criminal division of the department of justice here is working with Conboy in analyzing the report and the result of Conboy's own inquiries into the tragedy, which took 124 lives. They are seeking to determine whether there are grounds for criminal proceedings for alleged negligence.

The findings, it was learned, will advance the theories that the fire started from spontaneous combustion either in the hold, where hides and other commodities were stored, or in the famous library locker, where testimony at hearings in New York developed inflammable fluid and rags were kept.

This disclosure is aimed to end reports of "spite" plots against the Ward Line and comes while Acting Captain William P. Varma and four of his subordinates are facing trial on charges of negligence before bureau inspectors in New York City.

It was pointed out that Hoover's document will discuss only the causes of the fire and make recommendations for prevention of similar disasters in the future. The bureau has no power to make criminal charges and can only suspend or revoke officers' licenses if found guilty of negligence.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Mary Nolan, former chorus girl and movie actress, was cleared today of suspicion of taking $2000 from a New Jersey theatrical agent.

"Complaint withdrawn, do not want Mary Nolan, accused falsely," said a telegram received by police today from the police chief of Hazelton, Pa., where the charges originated.

Miss Nolan spent the night in a cell in New York. Police arranged to release her as soon as a magistrate could act on the case.

NOTED SURGEON CALLED

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Private funeral services will be held tomorrow for Dr. Lewis Linn McArthur, 76, senior surgeon at St. Luke's hospital and an outstanding figure in American surgery for 49 years.

Dr. McArthur, a leader in the field of aseptic surgery, died last night at his home. A heart attack was given as the cause of death.

He was born in Boston, January 23, 1858, and received his training at Santa Clara (Calif.) college, Rush Medical college here, at the University of Heidelberg and in Vienna.

TRANS-PACIFIC MONOPLANE ON AUCTION BLOCK

Kingsford-Smith Hopes to Raise $30,000 to Pay Off His Backers

lice raced from Hazelton. Police found a large crowd churning the Bruno house threatening violence. After a short struggle, the crowd was driven back. In the house, police found rifles, shotguns, and pistols.

Included among the arrested Brunos were Joseph's brothers, Frederick and Phillip. None of the Brunos would make a statement.

ELECTION FIGHT IN MISSOURI FATAL

STEELE, Mo., Nov. 6.—(UP)—One man was killed and another wounded seriously today in an election fight over purported bringing of Negroes from Arkansas to Missouri to vote, officers said.

The dead man was Horace Ferrell, 35, of Steele. His father, John E. Ferrell, 65, was so critically wounded that he was unable to give officers details of the shooting.

Officers said the shooting occurred on an isolated road when the Ferrell car, containing two Negroes, crossed the Arkansas-Missouri line.

The Negroes told officers that when the Ferrell automobile crossed the state line another automobile drove out of a side road and followed. After a short distance, the Negroes said, the car drove alongside of the Ferrell automobile and several men opened fire.

After the shooting the assailant's car sped away. The Negroes gave the alarm.

Officers said ill feeling had existed in Pemiscott county for several years as a result of charges and counter charges that Negroes frequently were brought into this section from Arkansas to vote.

Persepolis Yields Magnificent Find to Archeology

The magnificent terrace where Persian conquerors walked until a greater power arose to crush them, more than 2000 years ago, is shown here, part of the great structures unearthed at Persepolis, the Versailles of ancient Persia. Two years of excavation by the Chicago University Oriental expedition revealed the terrace, with its monumental staircases, buried for centuries after Alexander the Great, in a drunken rage, burned the imperial palace in 330 B. C. Unearthing of these ruins and uncovering of a Stone Age village adjacent to them, and antedating them by nearly 4000 years, is hailed as one of the greatest archeological discoveries of recent years.

BUENA PARK

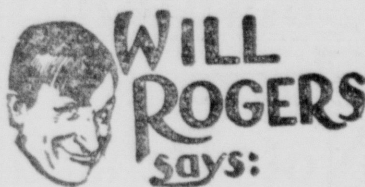

BUENA PARK, Nov. 6.—Harry Horn and J. B. Sullivan, representatives on the Northern Orange county Y. M. C. A. board, are in charge of tickets for the Armistice eve program sponsored by the Fullerton Hi-Y club of the high school.

Mrs. M. D. Thurman has received word of the death of her mother, Mrs. Archie V. McFee, of Marion, Ky.

Mrs. Mary Hefty, of Los Angeles, is a houseguest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brommer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Struck, of Taft, are spending a two weeks vacation in Southern California, part of which time is being spent in Buena Park inspecting property.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Swintz are completing repairs on the Kratzer property on Western avenue. Mrs. Swintz is to live with her grandmother while her husband is away on duty.

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 6.

(To the Editor of The Register:—) The last night before election California puts you in mind of the young husband waiting at the maternity ward for news of the first born. They are walking up and down, lighting one cigarette after another, and looking anxiously towards the voting booth.

Brisbane has bought some land and is moving all us movie folks to Florida. I am trying to get our company to drop off in Oklahoma. I got some cheap stuff there that would look awful pretty with a studio and Janette Gaynor and Warner Baxter on it. Claremore, Okla., would read awful pretty on all those marriage and divorce notices.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

'WOMAN ON TRIAL' PROVING POPULAR

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 6.—Increasing in popularity each night, E. E. Clive's production of "Woman on Trial" now playing at the Hollywood Playhouse, appears to be a hit, according to critics.

Barbara Bedford plays the stellar role in Ayn Rand's play. Miss Bedford is well known for her work with Bill Hart, Lon Chaney and in her latest pictures, "Alice," "Sunny," "Tollable David," "Girl of the Limblost," and "Tomorrow's Youth."

PASTOR WELCOMED BY BROTHERHOOD

FULLERTON, Nov. 6.—The Rev. L. I. Chamblee, new pastor of Fullerton Christian church, was welcomed into the Men's Brotherhood at the monthly meeting Monday night. At this occasion, the Rev. Francis E. Hawes, pastor of the Baptist church, and president of the Fullerton Ministerial association, brought addresses of welcome. The Rev. E. Dow Hoffman sent his message of welcome. He was unable to attend.

The new pastor responded in a 30-minute talk on "The Call to Leadership." Following his talk, Irwin Chapman talked briefly on "Communism." A special guest was C. C. Chapman, founder of the church.

Preceding the meeting, women of the church served dinner. The men's quartet presented several numbers.

VILLA PARK

VILLA PARK, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Elma T. Lee and Mrs. Ella Hayden are visiting relatives in Pasadena.

Miss Margaret Holditch is ill at her home on Lincoln street. Philip M. Hilber and son, of Manhattan Beach; Jack Rasch, of Pasadena; and Miss Helen McManus, of Pasadena, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Rasch.

Mrs. Anna Dettenhaler and her house guest, Mrs. Mary C. Gifford, of St. Louis, and Mrs. Walter J. Rasch spent a day in Long Beach recently.

CYPRESS

CYPRESS, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Mae Faegan, who has been seriously ill at a hospital, has been brought to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sconce, who have spent the past several months in Northern California, are house guests in the T. R. Morse home.

TWO MILLIONS TO CAST VOTES IN CALIFORNIA

votes would be cast before the polls close.

Interest centered in the gubernatorial contest, congressional, senatorial, judicial, bond and other state issues, falling into relatively small importance compared to the Merriam-Sinclair issue.

Voting was quiet in San Francisco, although partisan feeling ran high. At noon, it was estimated that 85,000 voters had cast ballots—a record in the city's history. Los Angeles estimated that 350,000 votes had been registered there at noon, out of the 1,350,000 eligibles. Only minor disturbances—such as electioneering too near the polls—were reported.

Sacramento, the state capital, although vitally concerned with the occupant of the governor's chair, reported quiet balloting. Approximately 70,000 votes, one-third of the total registration, were cast before noon.

Perfect, sunny weather prevailed in the huge agricultural valleys of the state and the vote was heavy. Haight, the independent, claimed strength in the valleys.

The three candidates voted early. Merriam said he was confident and appreciated the fact that so many Californians showed their interest in government by voting.

Sinclair said he would start his Epic plan immediately if elected; would move for Merriam's immediate recall if the latter wins. Haight said he had indications of a "heavy vote" for him throughout the state.

MRS. MINNIE MILLER CALLED BY DEATH

FULLERTON, Nov. 6.—Death today claimed Mrs. Minnie Miller, 68, who had been a resident of Fullerton more than 35 years. She died at an Orange hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Miller is survived by her husband, A. G. Miller of 333 West Malvern; a son, Merrill; sisters, Mrs. Cora Underwood of Fullerton and Bessie Matson of Oakland and two brothers, Walter Teague of Sacramento and Logan Teague of Peru, South America.

Mrs. Miller was connected with many organizations, including the Arlington Presbyterian church, Fullerton O.E.S. chapter 191, Fullerton Amaranth and White Shrine. Funeral services are slated for Thursday at 2 p. m. at the McAulay and Suters funeral home, the Rev. E. J. Statton, Alta Vista, to officiate. Interment is to be at Loma Vista.

Royal Neighbors' Club Entertained

BUENA PARK, Nov. 6.—Mrs. L. A. Sopha entertained members of the Golden State Luncheon club of the Santa Ana Royal Neighbors lodge at an all day session at her home on Kingman avenue recently.

Discussion of means of raising money for club activities and the announcement that a Bible will be given to the lodge by the club featured the business session. Time was also spent in hemming tea towels for the lodge kitchen.

Guests were Miss Ruby Raymond, Mrs. W. D. Cannon, Mrs. Lear Lee, Mrs. Marjanna Johnson and Miss Trena Johnson, Buena Park; Miss Mary Schumacher, Mrs. Elva Crawford, Mrs. Mabel Van De Walker, Mrs. Frieda Anderson, Mrs. S. Anderson, Mrs. Neva Weekley, Mrs. R. Norman, Mrs. Luhmann, Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Myrtle Underwood, Mrs. Viola Underwood, Mrs. Doris Busch, Mrs. Hart Pennington, Mrs. Marjorie Boyd, Mrs. Bess Simmons and Mrs. Iva Stephenson, Santa Ana.

And In Flew a Pheasant Dinner

The only powder used in connection with this Chinese pheasant death was that applied to the noses of Stella Jones and Mickey Beith, of Seattle, after the bird flew into their auto's windshield, shattered the glass and fell dead inside. The girls are looking through the broken windshield.

Travel Talk For Huntington Beach Church On Nov. 13

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 6.—H. L. Sherman, well known Newport Beach civic worker, will give the main address at the November 13 dinner meeting at the Christian Church of Huntington Beach. Sherman will give a travel talk, illustrating his lecture with motion pictures taken on his jaunts into foreign lands.

As a special feature, the dinner will be furnished by men of the church. A Thanksgiving menu will be prepared.

HOLD BIRTHDAY DINNER

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schneider entertained with a family dinner Sunday in observance of the birthday anniversaries of the following: L. A. Young, of Seal Beach; Wadie Abercrombie, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Frank Abercrombie, of San Bernardino and the hostess. The group was seated at tables arranged in the yard and decorated with red and yellow chrysanthemums and two birthday cakes bearing candles in pastel shades.

Covers were placed for Mrs. Lucella Abercrombie and L. A. Young, of Seal Beach; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Abercrombie and Wadie Abercrombie, Miss Betty Bench and Mrs. Louise Martin, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. H. B. Minister To Direct Training Course at Newport

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 6.—The Rev. John Engle, pastor of the Methodist church of Huntington Beach, will direct a teachers' training course which opens at Christ Church by the Sea Friday evening, according to announcement made by the Rev. Russell C. Stroup, pastor. The class meetings will extend over a period of time, the pastor said, and those interested are invited to participate.

PLACENTIA SCHOOL GROUP HOLDS PARTY

PLACENTIA, Nov. 6.—Sixty teachers, with their husbands and wives, and members of the school board, with their husbands and wives, and special guests enjoyed a party at the Richfield school Monday night when new teachers of the Placentia schools were honored by those who have been at the school prior to this year. Miss Cleo Holder, head of the hospitality committee of the Teachers' club, was in general charge of the affair.

Chrysanthemums and marigolds were used in decorating. When refreshments were served, small miniature turkeys were used as favors. A few games were played and in two where prizes were offered, winners were Miss Bessie Clarke and H. H. Schwoob.

MRS. LUCY KERCH RESIDENT HERE 27 YEARS, IS CALLED

Mrs. Lucy A. Kerch, 37, resident of this city for the past 27 years, died at her home at 1010 Riverine avenue yesterday following an illness of several months' duration. She was a member of the Rebekah lodge.

She was the widow of the late Jacob H. Kerch, and she was the mother of Dr. Kent Kerch of San Diego, Mrs. Edward Tollmeier of Pearl City, Illinois, Miss Jane Kerch, of Dundee, Illinois; aunt of Mrs. W. H. Black, Elvery Mulnix and Arthur Gorham of Mt. Vernon, South Dakota.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. from the chapel of the Smith and Tuthill Funeral home, Sixth and Broadway, with the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, minister of the Congregational church, officiating.

Interment will be made in Pasadena.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

The gloom of sorrow like the darkness of night envelopes the heart of man. There is no antidote for your grief and heart ache; they become part of you and you cannot rid yourself of them.

Only God is great enough to bring light to such darkness; only He, who has sustained you thus far, can carry you through. Without Him, you are hopeless; with Him, you become unconquerable.

LYON—November 5, 1934, Mrs. Ida Lyon, aged 73, wife of Henry Fred Lyon, of 1425 West First street. She is also survived by a brother and a sister in Saint Elmo, Illinois. VOTE MEASURES DISCUSSED FOR B. & P. W. CLUB Meeting on the eve of election, Business and Professional Women's club members last night devoted their dinner program in the Doris Kathryn, to discussion of the amendments appearing on today's ballot.

Miss Dorothy Decker, November chairman, had arranged the program which opened with a brief talk by John Colwell, against amendments 9 and 17. The remaining 21 amendments were then discussed in detail by Howard C. Cameron.

Mrs. John Clarkson was introduced as representing the Santa Ana chapter, American Red Cross, and read a touching prose poem, "Mater Dolorosa," written especially for the Red Cross drive in Orange county, by Stephen Chalmers, Laguna Beach author.

Guests introduced by the hostess chairman, Mrs. Marguerite Chapman, were Mrs. Gordon R. Rensberger, bookkeeper at Smith and Tutill's; Mrs. Ethel I. Peterson of the Orange County Automobile club, and Mrs. Grace Wolff of Julia Lathrop school staff.

After a short talk by Mrs. Hazel Northcross, treasurer in the California federation B.P.W., on her recent trip to San Francisco and the club contacts she made, Mrs. Rosa Walker, president, asked for reports of round table groups at the district board meeting in Fullerton.

These were given by Miss Louise Kaiser, health; Miss Harriet Whidden, membership; Miss Dorothy Decker, education and legislation; Miss Lula Ott, public relations; Miss Vanche Plumb, research; Miss Helen Gallagher, finance; Mrs. Marie Fowler, publicity; Mrs. Blanche Brown, emblem; Miss Clara Morley, international relations, and Miss Martha Whitson, the national program.

4-H Leaders Of County Attend Pomona Meeting

Election of officers of the Inter-County Council of 4-H club leaders from the Southland was announced today following a meeting attended by more than 100 leaders from southern counties including several from Orange county, at Pomona last night.

Those attending from Orange county were H. J. Hinrichs, of Orange, Mrs. G. D. Grisett and Lucille Grisett of Tustin, E. E. Eastman and Miss Wilma Grisett of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Launer of La Habra, and Mrs. F. L. Benson, of Anaheim.

Officers of the council elected were: Kenneth Garner of San Bernardino, president, succeeding H. J. Hinrichs, of Orange; Mrs. R. E. Waite, of Riverside, vice president; Miss Mabel Brinderson of San Bernardino, secretary-treasurer, succeeding Mrs. F. L. Benson, of Anaheim.

T. O. Benson, western district representative of the Boy Scouts of America, originator of the 4-H clubs in America, was the featured speaker, telling how the club work teaches adjustment, methods of distribution and marketing and trains young rural people to make their livelihood on the farm and ranch.

The leaders discussed the junior fair held in conjunction with the Los Angeles county fair, and the president of each of the various county councils was appointed a member of a committee to formulate arrangements for participation in the fair next year.

URGE REPORTS BY INJURED WORKERS IN SERA PROGRAM

All workers employed on SERA projects today were urged by Terence H. Halloran, Orange county director, to report immediately to their foreman for first aid treatment when injuries are sustained by them during the performance of their duties.

The health, safety and insurance division of the SERA has provided first aid kits and other safety appliances to all work projects in an effort to minimize the hazards attendant to such work, it was stated.

Frequently, minor injuries are thought not to warrant first aid treatment, and are not reported by the employee," Halloran said. "In many instances, serious infections result from such negligence, resulting in loss of time and inconvenience to the employee. This condition can be remedied if the employee will report all injuries to his foreman at the time of occurrence."

Seek Hit-Run Car After Accident

Three Mexicans in a Moon roadster are being sought by police today following a report last night by Paul Wolfgram, 41 Wellington avenue, that the hit-run car hit his machine at Fourth and French streets.

A hub cap was broken from the Moon car and is being used by police in the search for the missing automobile. Wolfgram said he was turning at French street when the Moon car struck the front of his machine. No one was hurt but both cars were damaged.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE TO BE FILED AGAINST DRIVER IN HIT-RUN DEATH CASE

Charges of manslaughter and failure to stop and render aid after an accident will be filed tomorrow against Horace Plumb, 18-year-old Colorado youth now attending Tustin High school, it was announced today by police officials following an inquest yesterday in the death of Mrs. Mary L. Moore, 67, 1319 Bush street, who was killed Halloween night when struck by Plumb's car on North Main street.

After hearing the inquest testimony in the Winbigler funeral home, the coroner's jury returned a verdict that young Plumb was guilty of failing to stop and render aid, and was driving the car in a negligent manner at the time of the accident.

The boy, a senior at Tustin High school, surrendered himself 24 hours after the accident to end a state-wide search for the hit-and-run driver. He has been held in the county jail without bail since that time for failure to stop and render aid and investigation of manslaughter. The decision to file the charges tomorrow was made after the finding of the jury by Officer C. W. Wolford and Deputy District Attorney J. E. Walker.

Upon the advice of his attorney, Charles Swanner, Plumb refused to testify at the inquest yesterday. At no time since his arrest has he offered his version of the wreck to police or the press.

Further Charges Pending

It also was announced by police that following Plumb's trial, prosecution will be started against liquor dealers who, it is said sold wine and gin to the boys prior to the accident. Two youths placed on the witness stand at the inquest said that liquor was purchased by Plumb in Santa Ana.

Only two of the six companions of Plumb in the death car were placed on the witness stand by Coroner Abbey. The first youth, an 18-year-old Santa Ana boy, told how the party met at the dance hall at Fourth and Van Ness streets, drank liquor on the way to the Valencia dance hall south of Anaheim, and then was returning to the Santa Ana dance hall at the time of the wreck.

He testified that Mrs. Moore started across the street in front of the car, faltered and then took several steps into the path of the machine. He said that Plumb slowed down but was urged by someone in the back seat to turn off his lights and drive on. The witness said he tried to get Plumb to stop and even tried to get out of the car, but the driver would not halt.

Boys Go To Dance

"We talked the wreck over when we got back to the dance hall," the witness said. "We were all

HOLD RITES FOR BABY

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 6.—Funeral services were held Monday for Lois Chaffee, two and a half months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chaffee, at Westminster Memorial park. The baby was stricken with pneumonia and died suddenly at the family home in Roll, Ariz., Sunday morning. The service was conducted by the Rev. Grover Ralston, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mrs. Moore died in the Santa Ana Valley hospital five hours after the wreck and never regained consciousness. She was hit just south of Washington avenue on North Main street at 9 o'clock as she was walking to her home. Funeral services were held from Winbigler's last Saturday.

Members of the coroner's jury who returned the verdict against Plumb were A. L. Austin, A. R. Berry, A. H. Holland, H. E. Carter, E. T. Hoffman and Robert Law.

DEFER ACTION ON COMPLETING CITY MUSEUM

Completion of the Bowers Memorial Museum and collection of historical material for displays will not be undertaken at the present time by the city, it was decided by the city council last night following a report by City Engineer J. L. McBride.

Last week, Architect Frank Lansdown suggested to the council that it might be possible to frame an SERA project to furnish the museum and make it available to the public. McBride pointed out that it would cost the city about $2000 to bring the building to completion and that unless a curator was appointed, collection of material would be done in a haphazard way.

He declared that the problem of transporting the articles to the museum would be an extra expense and that it would be better to wait until the building is finished and then make a directed effort to fill it. The council moved to accept and file Lansdown's letter with thanks.

At the present time, a city employee is working in the museum and has completed many articles of furniture, cases and shelves.

INJURIES FATAL TO MRS. IDA LYON

Mrs. Ida Lyon, 73, resident of Santa Ana for the past 22 years, died today after falling at her home, sustaining a hip injury. She fell several months ago and has been an invalid ever since. She lived at 1435 West First street.

She was the wife of Henry Fred Lyon. She also is survived by a brother and a sister who live in Saint Elmo, Illinois.

Funeral services will be held at the Winbigler Funeral home, 609 North Main street, tomorrow at 2 p. m., with the Rev. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

County Medical Association To Hear Councilor

Dr. W. W. Robles, councilor for the first district, will speak at a monthly meeting of the Orange County Medical association at 3 o'clock tonight in the chapel of the Orange county hospital. It was announced today by Dr. H. G. Huffman, president. The speaker will discuss matters in connection with the California Medical association.

Dr. George Stevenson Sharp will give a talk on the subject, "Diagnosis and Treatment of Malignancy of the Head and Neck," to be illustrated with lantern slides.

Early election returns will be announced at the meeting.

BULLET PIERCES WALL OF HOUSE

When a .38 caliber bullet comes visiting and enters a man's house, it's time to investigate.

That's what L. H. Tanquary of Buena Park probably thought yesterday when he found a bullet which had pierced the outside of the house, in a cupboard. He then recalled that on Sunday evening, while his family was in the front part of the house, that a mysterious noise had been heard in the kitchen. They could find nothing amiss at the time but found the spent bullet yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff James Workman and R. E. Steinberger investigated and learned that a service station attendant near the house had heard two shots fired Sunday evening. Mischievous children with firearms were blamed for the shooting by officers.

SUSPECT WAIVES COURT PROCEEDING

Gale Miller, 24, who burglarized the home of Joe Hagan, 531 North Ross street and then was captured Saturday afternoon after a long chase by Ruth Hagan, 17, daughter of the home, waived his preliminary hearing in the Santa Ana justice court yesterday on burglary charges.

Miller was seen leaving the Hasan house and was chased by the young woman for several blocks before she caught him and placed him under arrest. While waiting for an officer to arrive, he tried to bury the stolen jewelry under a tree but was detected. He admitted using a pass key to open the house and steal the watches, rings and other jewelry valued at $225, according to police.

Cruelty Charged In Divorce Suit

Charging cruelty, Mrs. Carrie Farnell today filed suit in superior court for divorce from Thomas D. Farnell, oil driller, whom she married at Springfield, Missouri, in 1919, and from whom she separated at Santa Barbara last May 4.

At that time, according to her complaint, he left her to go to Inglewood, another woman following him there. The separation, she stated, followed a checkered marital career, following her action in quitting her $125-per-month job in Missouri to accompany her husband to Long Beach.

CUDAHY EXPERT WILL LECTURE TO HOUSEWIVES

Burkholder to again serve as master of ceremonies at the Cooking School.

Assisting Mrs. Nina G. Abbey, noted home economist, who is conducting the cooking school for local ice companies and the Grand Central Market, opening Wednesday at Veterans hall, is L. O. Burkholder, department of the Cudahy Packing company. Burkholder serves as master of ceremonies at the cooking school and also gives lectures on meat buying and cutting.

He explains to the housewives how to recognize the lesser known cuts and more economical methods in their meat purchases both fresh and smoked meats.

"The housewives of Santa Ana are discriminating buyers," said Burkholder. "This is proven by the consumer demand for Puritan products manufactured by the Cudahy Packing company."

Police News

Angel Calvillo, 21, 902 Logan street, was jailed last night by Officers C. V. Adams and J. W. Foster on a warrant charging disturbing the peace.

Plasido Chavez, El Modena, was booked for drunkenness at the county jail last evening by Officers Pete Winslow and A. H. Westermann of Orange.

Henry Medrano, jailed Sunday for investigation of drunken driving, was released yesterday after an investigation by California Highway Patrolman Dan Adams.

Celebrate 57th Anniversary By Voting Together

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond J. Black, 1301 South Shelton street, celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary today by going together to their polling place and casting their votes.

The couple, married 57 years today, find no cause for domestic troubles in politics, both voting the Republican ticket. Mr. Black is 82 years old and Mrs. Black is 76.

Mr. Black cast his first vote for James Buchanan for president of the United States.

They are the parents of E. E. Black, employed in a drug store at Second and Broadway streets.

THREE BURGLARIES REPORTED; $228 IN LOOT OBTAINED

Three burglaries which happened Sunday were reported to police yesterday, involving the theft of musical instruments valued at $227, a watch and chain, and about $1 in pennies.

The burglar who entered the home of Charles Friend, 508 North Olive street, took a banjo and case valued at $150, mandolin and case valued at $65 and a Spanish guitar worth $12, making a total loss of $227. A screen was cut on a porch and a small vent window entered into the house. It was evident that the musical instruments were the object of the burglary since money and other valuables were undisturbed, police reported.

Elmer M. Rains, 905 West First street, had his watch and chain stolen from his home but recovered the loot when the burglar apparently became frightened and dropped the watch on the back porch, he reported to officers.

The third burglary was at the service station of Jim Crawford, 1801 West Fifth street. Sunday evening, Officers W. E. B. Sherwood and Harry Holmes found the rear door to the station open and called Crawford, but nothing was found missing. Yesterday, however, it was seen that someone had crawled through a broken window and taken about 100 pennies.

Court Notes

Leonard Lopez, 29, 615 East Adele street, Anaheim, jailed yesterday by California Highway Patrolman Horace Inge on a reckless driving charge, was later released when he posted $250 bail.

A Quintero, charged with petty theft, paid a $25 fine at the jail yesterday and was released by Judge Halsey Spence of Fullerton.

Ernest Amrein, 48, Anaheim, was committed to the county jail for 30 days on a vagrancy charge from Anaheim yesterday.

DISABLED VETS TO HONOR GOLD STAR PARENTS

Planning to pay tribute to all Gold Star mothers and fathers of Orange county, the annual meeting of Jack Fisher chapter and Auxiliary, Disabled Americans of the World War, will be held at the K. of C. hall tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. It was announced today.

The meeting will be of a social nature, with business limited to announcements regarding the Armistice Day plans of the chapter for next Sunday and Monday. A committee in charge of Mrs. Mary Fisher, commander of the Auxiliary, will serve a luncheon following a program of entertainment.

It is appropriate that with Armistice Day so close, Jules W. Markel, local D. A. V. commander said in connection with the announcement of the meeting, "that Wednesday's meeting should be set aside to honor the mothers and fathers of our comrades who gave their all in the World War. We expect to have a large number of honored guests as well as the parents of our membership present."

CLARENCE STEARNS CALLED BY DEATH

Clarence M. Stearns, 65, of 2176 Oak street, Santa Ana, resident of this city for 10 years, died yesterday at his home following an illness of several years' duration. He was a carpenter by occupation.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Florence Stearns; one brother, George Stearns, of Salt Lake City; one sister, Mrs. Kate Taylor, of Marshall, Ia., and an aunt, Mrs. Maggie C. Taylor, of Grantsville, Utah.

Announcement of funeral services will be made later by Harrell and Brown Funeral home.

INQUEST DATE SET IN CHILD'S DEATH

An inquest will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow from the Winbiger funeral home for 4-year-old Elena L. Flores of Delhi, killed to all guests who will notify Commander Markel by telephoning him at 8763.

Saturday afternoon when struck by a car near her home.

Coroner Earl Abbey has not scheduled inquests for the other two victims of week end traffic accidents, pending the location of important witnesses. The body of Frank Palmer, 50, of Redondo Beach, is at the Dixon mortuary in Huntington Beach and the body of Felix Alvarado, 34, Anaheim, is at the Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral home in Anaheim.

Mrs. Flora Palmer, wife of the accident victim and Miss Leasie Adams of Redondo Beach, both confined in St. Joseph's hospital with serious injuries, are expected to recover, it was learned today. There were six persons hurt when two cars collided head on in a dense fog in Huntington Beach Saturday night.

MARY GLAVENICH WEDS IN ANAHEIM

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 6.—Miss Mary Glavenich, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Glavenich of Westminster, and Mike Page, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Page of Garden Grove, were married at St. Boniface Catholic church.

Anaheim, Sunday, with the Rev. Patrick Browne officiating. Two hundred and fifty guests were present.

The brunette beauty of the bride was accentuated by her white satin gown, with which was worn a long sweeping white wedding veil, a bouquet of white bride's roses completing her lovely costume. Miss Glavenich was given away at the altar by her father. Her maid of honor was her cousin, Miss Winnie Glavenich, of Long Beach, who was gown in turquoise blue and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The best man was Tony Missetch, of Long Beach, and little Betty Glavenich, sister of the bride, was flower girl and wore a lovely frock of pink silk.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given for the couple at Concordia hall. A mutual friend of the Glavenich and Page families, Anton Sipich, acted as master of ceremonies at the dinner served at the long flower bedecked tables.

Following the reception the bridal couple left on a motor trip. Upon their return the young couple will reside at Garden Grove, where the groom is associated with his father in his orange groves.

FREE COOKING SCHOOL OPENS IN VETERAN'S HALL WEDNESDAY

Here is good news for the women of Santa Ana and vicinity. The Santa Ana Register in conjunction with the Home Ice company, Diamond Ice company, Santa Ana Ice company and Grand Central Market is to conduct a free cooking school and home economics course at Veterans hall starting Wednesday, November 7, and continuing for three days.

A 75-pound ice box will be given away.

A Mix-Master also will be given away.

Each afternoon dozens of food prizes will be presented to the women in attendance.

Coffee will be served by Ben Hur Coffee company Thursday afternoon, Nov. 9. Samples of food stuffs will be distributed and baskets of food stuffs will be presented each day of the school.

Nina G. Abbey, noted home economics lecturer, will conduct the school. She is a graduate of Illinois State and Columbia colleges.

Able Demonstrator

An able demonstrator, full of pep and good humor, Mrs. Abbey keeps her audiences interested and the food cooked at the school under her direction is distributed each afternoon.

The doors of Veterans hall will be open at 1 o'clock and during the period before the school starts at 1:30 o'clock there will be lectures, and interesting talks. The school will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock and close promptly at 4 o'clock.

You're Invited

A cordial invitation is extended to every woman who reads the Santa Ana Register to have a part in this great free cooking school. The loud speaker system in Veterans hall will carry the voice of Mrs. Abbey to every part of the house.

Every arrangement is being made by those in charge to make this the most outstanding cooking school ever held in this city. Everything will be free and the ladies attending will share in the distribution of presents each afternoon as well as in the awarding of the major prizes at the close of the school.

I have been finding interesting ways to use mayonnaise other than in salads. Gather 'round and listen to this little story.

Yesterday, a quantity of potato salad was left after luncheon. In addition there was a lot of diced potato without dressing, and potatoes for dinner were on my mind. So—oh, sez I to myself, I wonder what would happen if I combined the two and creamed them for dinner. It worked and the creamed potato with that indefinable something was perfectly swell. Then, today, there was a milk shortage when the dinner potato was being mashed and here again the mayonnaise (my buttermilk brand) was the pinch hitter. Try my idea and see if it doesn't add flavor to the old space-filler.

Clear tea.

Calory total, 200.

Kill two birds with one stone: make the family dinner salad right after breakfast and use it for the diet luncheon. To make salad for ten take 2 packages of orange jelly powder, follow directions in making. To the jelly base add 1 can of grapefruit sections, diced, and all of the juice in the can. The extra liquid will not thin the jelly too much. For the dressing take a cupful of cottage cheese and add enough mayonnaise to make it creamy.

Take small "juice" oranges, one for two servings. Stick 4 whole cloves in each orange and boil the oranges for an hour. Drain and when slightly cool, halve them, dot with butter, dust with sugar and slip under the broiler to sizzle for a minute.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Ham Loaf

1 pound fresh pork shoulder
1 pound raw smoked ham
1 pound raw veal
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 cup milk
1 egg
1 small onion, ground fine

Pepper and small amount salt. You'll need three pounds of meat after it has been ground, so make allowance for the bones in weighing meat. Have it all run through the grinder at the butcher's for home grinders are inadequate. Beat the egg, add milk and crumbs, combine with the meat and mix thoroughly, using your hands to knead the meat. Season and pack into a loaf tin (oil it first). Bake 1-1 1/2 hours in a fairly slow oven.

A nice top for this loaf is the use of a can of pineapple, finely cubed and pressed into the meat before baking. Baste with a little pineapple juice when the loaf has browned.

A sweet potato soufflé goes perfectly with this loaf. Steam a can of sweets, open and mash, adding a piece of butter, 1-2 cup milk, a little sugar and salt, a beaten egg yolk (with milk) and the white beaten stiff. Peel and dice 3 oranges, add pulp to potato mixture, pile into a buttered casserole, cover top with marshmallows and make 30-40 minutes, medium oven.

The combination of sweet potato and ham loaf will run the calories up to approximately 800 for an average serving.

Wednesday: Macaroni Muffins and Apple Ripple Cake.

CONDIMENT FIRM OPENS CAMPAIGN

The California Conserving company is commemorating its seventy-fifth year and showing its belief in the improved purchasing power of the public by launching the largest advertising campaign featuring C-H-B Condiments in its history, according to N. W. Stern, vice president. More than 160 newspapers are being used in the Pacific states and they have been chosen as the exclusive medium, according to Stern, because of the splendid results that they achieved in previous campaigns. The company markets a complete line of condiments under the C-H-B label. These food products are manufactured in its plants in Hayward, Graton and Ryde, California, and in Gresham and Scappoose, Oregon.

The advertising campaign is under the direction of Emil Brinacher an ASIAF, a national advertising agency.

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Bucky Harris is expected to again be named manager of the Washington club.

Joe Cronin is understood to have insisted upon Harris being taken care of before consenting to the record-breaking $150,000 deal that made him his former boss' successor as pilot of the Boston Red Sox.

This sounds like Cronin. No one is going to be kicked around if he can help it. And the San Francisco Irishman hasn't forgotten that it was Harris who gave him his big opportunity when he first reported to the Senator's a bit down-in-the-mouth in July, 1928.

The story of Cronin's jump from Kansas City to Washington makes fiction dull.

Cronin flopped with Pittsburgh, and hit only .245 for Kansas City. The day Joe Engel, Washington scout, arrived to inspect another infielder for whom the Blues asked $25,000, Cronin virtually was booted from the park for misplays in the field.

Engel was quaffing beer at the brewery of George Muehlbach, then owner of the Kansas City club, when the Blues' business manager, Jack Savage, asked him and announced that Cronin was being shipped that night.

"Where are you shipping him?" inquired Engel. Savage named the club and the smaller league. "That's no place to be sending such a nice boy," countered Engel. "Why don't you let me have him?"

"What would you do with him?" They laughed, and while Engel hesitated about naming Cronin's future home, the deal was closed for a nominal sum.

AFRAID TO TELL GRIFFITH
Another can or two of the number fluid was brought in, and Engel all but had forgotten that he had purchased an infielder when Cronin walked in to find out whether he was bound.

"You're going with me, kid," spoke up Engel. "You're going to play shortstop for the Washington ball club."

By this time young Cronin had learned not to believe everything he was told, but, having nothing else to do, was happy to accept Engel's invitation to accompany

INJURY TO SON, STAR BACK, BLOW TO SPAULDING'S HOPES

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—(UP)—When newspaper headlines announced: "Young Bill Spaulding out for season," the U. C. L. A. campus went into a brief uproar, but exciting games and new stars erase the memory of the injured player to all but one—Coach Bill Spaulding, father of the sophomore.

"It was tough on the boy, being forced out in his first year on the varsity," says Coach Spaulding.

But the players say, "It was harder on the coach than on Young Bill when the kid got hurt."

No coach is happy over losing a potential star and no player wants to be out for a season, but the case of Young Spaulding was different from that of the ordinary player.

Since he was a grammar school lad, Young Bill wanted to play under his father. In high school he was voted Los Angeles "All-City" quarterback.

"Young Bill had his heart set on going to U. C. L. A. and playing on our team," said Coach Spaulding. "At first I was going to send him to some small college because I thought he wasn't heavy enough for coast conference football."

"He didn't think much of that idea and began working to increase his weight. He did exercises and ate huge amounts of food. Daily he would get on the scales and see how much he gained. He fretted all the time about being so light."

"Finally, when he raised his weight from 165 to about 175 pounds, I consented to his enrollment here. But he knew I liked heavy, fast backs, so last summer he signed on a ship as a deck-hand and came back after three months weighing 185 pounds."

Spaulding admits Young Bill knows more about the fine points of the game than any player he has known. The boy began handling a football when he was six years old.

GEORGIA COLEMAN UNDER KNIFE

TWO GAMES ON S. A. FOOTBALL FIELDS FRIDAY

Santa Ana's football fans will be busier than election clerks Friday.

That is the day the Saints of Santa Ana high school take on Fullerton's Indians at Poly field at 2:45 in the afternoon, and the junior college Dons oppose San Bernardino in the Municipal Bowl at 8 in the evening.

Despite a 6-0 defeat at Alhambra last week, a setback that cost Santa Ana its last chance for the Coast league championship, there was no "moaning at the bar" down at Poly field today. The condolences were saved for Bill Hawkins, the Saints' ace back, who injured a muscle in the back of his knee in the Moor game. It is problematical whether Hawkins will be able to go against Fullerton but Coach Bill Foote says Hawkins will be ready for Long Beach here next week.

Foote had nothing but praise for the Saints for their showing against the heavily favored Alhambra, believing his team played its best game of the season. The Santa Anas had a decided edge over the Moors in everything but the score, which came as the result of a blocked punt after the Saints had checked Alhambra's one chance to get anywhere under its own power. Santa Ana's blocking was particularly improved. The Saints sprung runners into the open several times, and touchdowns seemed imminent, but on each occasion the "small carrier" lacked speed about to outdistance Alhambra's secondary. The slowness of the backfield has been the chief defect of this off-beaten Saint eleven.

But Santa Ana will string along with its lineup through the remaining three games—Fullerton, Long Beach and Pasadena. Foote is satisfied he has found his best combination, win or lose, and nothing else can be done about it.

The Coast league championship is almost definitely in the bag for Long Beach, which has to turn back Santa Ana and Glendale, the weak sisters of the conference. Even if the "Rabbits" should drop one game they would still have an edge over San Diego and Alhambra, having defeated both the other contenders. The standings:

COAST PREPARATORY LEAGUE (Class A)

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Long Beach	2	0	100.
San Diego	2	1	.667
Alhambra	1	2	.333
Santa Ana	1	2	.333
Pasadena	1	2	.333
Glendale	1	2	.333

Last Week's Results
Alhambra 6, Santa Ana 0.
San Diego 27, Glendale 0.
Long Beach 26, Pasadena 6.

This Week's Games
No official league games scheduled; Santa Ana plays Fullerton Friday in non-conference contest.

FULLERTON ANXIOUS TO REDEEM ITSELF

FULLERTON, Nov. 6.—Having fumbled right out of the Football league title chase, Don Cruikshank's Fullerton high school Indians are out to redeem themselves in the eyes of their followers with a victory over their traditional rivals at Santa Ana Friday.

Since beginning the spirited rivalry in 1917, seven out of the twelve games were taken by the Saints, four by the Indians and one resulted in a tie. In these games the Saints scored 175 to the Indians' 118 points.

The present generation of Fullerton students is not interested in what transpired in the previous tomato-throwing years. The fact that the Saints scored 111 points against Fullerton in the last four years is what has added fuel to the rivalry.

"Tex" Oliver's 1931 team trounced Fullerton, 59-19, and the following year his Southern California champions won, 32-0. In 1932 it was a 14-0 Santa Ana triumph. Last year the Indians scored a 9-6 victory, their first since 1924.

This year the Fullerton Indians have enjoyed a unique position in the gridiron. They have managed to outplay all seven opponents, but only able to return with three victories because of fumbling activities within scoring distance.

Fullerton's record:

Fullerton, 7, Compton 0.
Fullerton, 12, Chaffey, 12.
Fullerton, 6, Riverside, 0.
Fullerton, 0, Whittier, 0.
Fullerton, 0, Muir Tech, 0.
Fullerton, 7, Monrovia, 6.
Fullerton, 6, Herbert Hoover, 21.

Coach Cruikshank will rely primarily on the work of the strong Fullerton forwards in an effort to check the Saints' scoring drive, while he is attempting to work out a few fumble-proof plays to aid the Indians' scoring punch.

SCHMELING, HAMAS TO BOX IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Negotiations for a boxing match between Max Schmeling of Germany and Steve Hamas, United States, were reported practically to be concluded today. It was said that only the site for the fight remained to be determined. Berlin and Frankfurt-on-Main were understood to be under consideration.

FIVE BEAVERS INJURED
CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 6.—(UP)—Five of Oregon State's first string came out of the Washington game with severe injuries, a checkup at practice showed today. Fullback Heikonen, Guard Bill Tomeshek, and End Schultz required hospital treatment, while Tackles Bentley and Brandis are bruised.

Tired, Talks Trade

Too old at 36, according to his own admission, Manager Bill Terry, of the New York Giants, is looking for a first baseman to succeed himself. Bill, shown here as he was touring the south, made the statement in New Orleans that his club is due for a violent shakeup.

WOMEN'S GOLF TEAM DEFEATS CHAMPS. 11-3

Holding a decisive victory over the defending Southern California champions, Santa Ana Country club's women's golf team today was identified as the "one to beat" for Eastern division honors this year.

Making a clean sweep of the points in three out of five matches, Santa Ana routed the powerful Mountain Meadows club of Pomona, 11 points to 4, here Monday. Redlands temporarily went into first place by beating Victoria of Riverside, 12-2 to 2-12. In the other division, Palos Verdes won from Hacienda, 12-1 to 2-12, and Virginia defeated Rio Hondo by a similar count.

Santa Ana plays at Victoria Nov. 19.

The Summary:
Mrs. L. H. Robinson and Mrs. J. L. McFadden (Santa Ana) 1½ points; Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. Frank Elliott (Mountain Meadows) 1½ points; Miss Lolita Mead and Mrs. Gordon Talbert (SA) 5 points; Mrs. Ellis Conner and Mrs. C. C. Denio (MM) 6 points.

Mrs. C. V. Doty and Mrs. B. W. McCutcheon (SA) 1 point; Mrs. R. W. Crook and Mrs. James Reynolds (MM) 6 points.

Mrs. L. J. Bushard and Mrs. Don Andrews (SA) 3 points; Mrs. Paige Hubble and Miss P. J. Furlong (MM) 6 points.

Mrs. Harry Baker and Mrs. Hugh Shields (SA) ½ points; Mrs. E. B. Chambers and Miss Marjorie Trickey (MM) 2½ points.

RED CAGERS TO PLAY TEN GAMES ON TOUR

PALO ALTO, Nov. 6.—A schedule of nine games was announced today for the Stanford university basketball team on a barnstorming tour through the Midwest in December and January. Schedule follows:

December 20—Utah university at Ogden.

December 21—Utah university at Salt Lake City.

December 26—Notre Dame at South Bend.

December 27—Michigan State at Lansing.

December 28—Marquette university at Milwaukee.

December 29—Iowa university at Iowa City.

January 2—University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

January 3 and 4—Creighton university at Omaha.

The board of athletic control indicated it intends to schedule one more game for the trip, but did not name the prospective opponent.

VINES OFF ON NEW TENNIS EXPEDITION

PASADENA, Nov. 6.—(UP)—The world indoor professional tennis championships at London has lured Ellsworth Vines to New York whence he will sail tomorrow for England. Dick Charneck, a close friend, expressed the belief that "an interesting announcement regarding the professional tennis situation" would be forthcoming from Vines after he confers in New York with Bill O'Brien, sports promoter.

"Y" BASKETBALL

Two Commercial league basketball games are slated at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. Santa Ana Woolen Mills, one of the leaders, plays the strong Irvine team at 7:30 o'clock. Union Oil and Goodyear Service clash at 8:30. Ted Cook's Service quintet, tied for the conference lead, opposes Wayne Garlock's club at the "Y" at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

MICH. STATE'S COOK CONTACTS UNBEATEN TEAM 7 SCHOOLS FOR BYE DATE GAME

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(UP)—A grand intercollegiate struggle will be waged Saturday at Syracuse when Charley Bachman's powerful Michigan State eleven slams into the strongest Syracuse university football team turned out during Vic Hanson's five-year reign.

Norwood, Warfield, Wagner and C. from East Lansing will take the field favored at least 7 to 5 to shatter the perfect Syracuse record, although each outfit has divided all the same number of victories this season—five straight. Bachman's backfield will be favored because that victims appeared in the more recent: Grinnell, Michigan, Carnegie Tech, Manhattan and Marquette. Syracuse bowing over Clarkson, Cornell, Ohio Wesleyan, Brown and Penn State.

Regardless of the figures quoted, this fifth meeting between the two schools with the standing deadlocked at two victories each—should develop into a smashing, close fight.

Syracuse has a machine which is the answer to a coach's prayer. Dark-haired Hanson, who galloped to fame as an All-America end for the Orange, has been praying for just such an outfit ever since he succeeded Lew Anderson. It is a senior team just reaching its peak; a heavy team that has an abundance of power, speed and fight; a team backed by plenty of able reserves, and a team that escaped the injury jinx which dogged other Hanson eleven.

It must be mentioned at this point that Michigan State's ability on terra firma or in the clouds. It is recalled that in the Michigan game, Bachman's boys completed 6 out of 13 passes, which is very fine completing. Bachman, who was an All-America player under Rockne at Notre Dame in 1916, knows just what to do with speed and power and seems to be doing it.

Five 'Unknowns' May Start Bear Game for U.S.C.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—With reserve players taking the spotlight in practice scrimmage as the Trojans of Southern California prepare to meet the Bears of California here Saturday, Coach Howard Jones announced today that he may have some "unknowns" who have played but a few moments this season in the starting lineup when the game is called.

Five members of the reserve squad have earned recognition during the intensive scrimmage campaign staged by Jones since the recent S. C.-Stanford game. They are George McNeish, center; Tony Beard, running guard; Warren Hull, tackle, and Ford Lynch and Bob Smith, fullbacks.

McNeish, a sophomore, got his chance when three centers, King Kuhn, Ellwood Jorgensen and Gil Kuhn, went out with minor injuries, and his accurate passing on offense and steady defensive play made a strong impression on the coaching staff.

Hull, a 225-pound transfer from Glendale junior college, showed good defensive play when given a chance with the first team and, if he improves his blocking, Jones may give him a break with the varsity. Lynch, 155-pound sophomore fullback, has been one of the most consistent gainers during the scrimmage sessions, hitting with amazing drive for his weight and showing surprising defensive ability. Bob Smith, switched back from a left halfback position, has been hitting the line hard and may be just the type of plunging fullback that the Trojans have been needing.

Trojan-Bear Game Tickets Available

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—General admission tickets for the Southern California-California football battle here Saturday in the Coliseum are now on sale. It was announced today by General Manager Arnold Eddy of the Trojans. Seats in the unreserved section at the west end of the stadium are priced at $1.65, including tax, and may be obtained at the three S. C. ticket offices, the students' store on the campus, Bullock's at Seventh and Hill streets, and the Broadway Hollywood, at Hollywood boulevard and Vine street. Reserved seats in good locations are still available, according to Eddy. These are priced at $3.30, including tax.

MEXICO CITY AFTER MILLER, ARIZMENDI

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 6.—(UP)—A battle to determine disputed claims to the world's featherweight championship was being formulated today in negotiations to match Freddie Miller, N. B. A. titlist, and Baby Arizmendi, recognized by New York and Mexico, in a bout here in December or January.

Promoter W. H. Hollifield has cabled Miller a $20,000 offer.

Hollifield said he also was angling for a local match between Arizmendi and Barney Ross, world lightweight titleholder.

Oxy-Caltech Meet In Pasadena Bowl

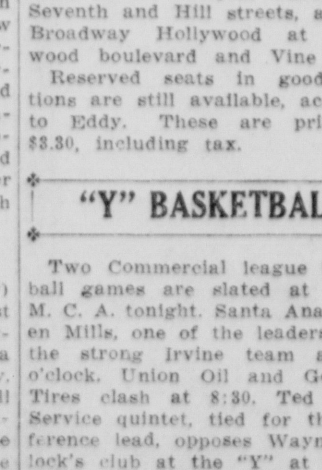

PASADENA, Nov. 6.—Pasadena's Rose Bowl, home of the famous Tournament of Roses football game every January 1, opens its gates to the pigskin minded populace for the first time in the present season Friday night when Occidental and Caltech stage the current renewal of a rivalry which is 39 years of age.

Although Occidental should rank a top heavy favorite, on its season record, a ten-year-old tradition says that Tech will win. Since 1924 Occidental has won only in odd numbered years and Tech in the even years.

Kingfish Irate At L. S. U. Rating 'Slight'

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 6.—(UP)—U. S. Senator Huey Long, more concerned over football than today's election, today threatened to arrange a "double-header" grid exhibition to prove that Louisiana State university has a better team than Alabama or Minnesota.

When he learned that the Williamson rating system placed L. S. U. after Minnesota and Alabama, the Kingfisher said:

"Who the hell is this bird Williamson anyway? We'll play Minnesota and Alabama on the same day and beat 'em both."

"Better yet, our 'em both team will play Minnesota and the first team will play Alabama and we'll skin the pants out of both of 'em."

P. E. Williamson, graduate engineer of Alabama Polytechnic institute, has gained attention throughout the South on his ratings of national football teams. He bases his rating on the strength of opponents playing, number of victories and scoring strength. He has reduced football to a mathematical basis, he says.

Levinsky Will Forget Love If He Gets Dog

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(UP)—If Kingfish Levinsky, the Maxwell street prize fighter, gets his dog back he'll be willing to call his marriage just one of life's little mistakes.

The Kingfish, once known as Harrie Krakow, let it be known in circuit court here today that there are just two things he wants from his fan-dancer bride.

They are his automobile and his dog, particularly the dog.

"Give me the pooch and we'll call it a draw," he said in an answer to the divorce suit of Roxanna Glickman Krakow.

Levinsky said that the day after their 3 a. m. elopement to Crown Point, Ind., his bride's parents moved in with them and he didn't even get a chance to kiss Roxanna.

Dick Moore, a hard-running freshman who tore ligaments over his right ankle against Citrus, returned to the squad yesterday after an absence of several days. Wilburn Anderson, 190-pound quarterback, has recovered from a hip injury, and will be in shape Friday for the first time since the Riverside game more than two weeks ago. He was hurt in the first quarter against Citrus and removed from the field.

Miller Girones Go On for Wednesday

BARCELONA, Spain, Nov. 6.—(UP)—The Freddie Miller - Jose Girones featherweight title fight, scheduled for Sunday night, will be held Wednesday night. It was postponed because of unfavorable weather.

Miller of Cincinnati is recognized as 126-pound champion by the U. S. National Boxing association. Girones is the Spanish and European titleholder.

HURLER HERRMANN WEDS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—LeRoy Herrmann, ace hurler of the San Francisco Seals, left on a honeymoon today with his bride, the former Helen Marie Wade, Stockton stenographer. They were married yesterday by Father Joseph Johnson at St. Vincent's church. Herrmann goes to Cincinnati in the spring.

Operation for Head Ailment Is Disclosed

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Georgia Coleman, 22, of Los Angeles, Olympic women's diving champion, has undergone a delicate brain operation at New England Baptist hospital.

The famous diver, in private life Mrs. Roof Gilson, was reported to have had a satisfactory night and was "as well as could be expected" today.

Miss Coleman's brain ailment reportedly resulted from a head injury suffered while diving. How long she had been ill could not be ascertained.

Miss Coleman's name was not on the danger list but hospital officials would not say that her condition was not critical. Her 23-year-old husband, a Jackson, Mich. advertising man whom she married secretly at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., a year ago last March, was at the bedside.

Dr. Gilbert Georgia Coleman Horrax of the Lahey clinic performed the operation. Like his patient, Dr. Horrax once starred in athletics. He was a track man and football player as a student at Williams college. He formerly was connected with Peter Bent Brigham hospital, where Dr. Harvey Cushing, internationally famous brain surgeon, operated on many noted patients.

Dr. Horax told the United Press: "Miss Coleman has had an operation in her pituitary gland and is doing well." The pituitary gland is a small, oval, vascular body in the brain, thought to produce a secretion that influences the changes in certain tissues.

WASHINGTON

ELECTION CONFESSION

Now it can be told that the Republicans never expected to gain anything out of the election. They have not spent any real money, mainly because they know it would not do any good. They did not even open up a New York headquarters for the first time that anyone can remember.

From the inside, their chief purpose has been to save the nucleus of the party organization. The results from eastern and central states, especially Vermont and Pennsylvania, will tell whether they did.

AFTERMATH

The Republicans have said a lot of harsh things in this campaign, but the only thing they are really angry about is the way Postmaster General Farley took advantage of them on relief expenditures. They do not believe he lived up to the rules of the game.

It is not the fact that the administration spread relief funds around in doubtful quarters. The Republicans expected that. They did not expect Farley and others to go around bragging about it. They feel that Democratic politicians tried to create the impression they were handing out their own money, and not the taxpayers'.

A mass of evidence on that subject has been collected for use in Congress when the next relief appropriations come up. One item is a quote from Iowa Democratic State Chairman Pauling to the effect that: "This election, beyond all doubt, will determine whether Iowa will continue to receive very liberal and much needed federal benefits."

Another is an apparently authentic unsigned Democratic campaign document for North Dakota, showing the New Deal disbursed $2500 for every man, woman and child there.

DEMOCRATS

The Democratic slant on the election from the inside is that it will be the greatest off-year sweep in history. The Democrats count nearly everything except Vermont and Pennsylvania as already captured and they are hopeful of uprooting the historic depths of Republicanism in those two states.

They will whisper to you that they used the New Deal relief program as much as they could. They say the program was not inaugurated for political purposes, but to help the country. They cannot see anything wrong about advertising the help they gave. They think they will win, not because of relief expenditures, but because the Republicans offered no real issue, presented no inviting alternative program.

SKILL

Every tactician in both camps will concede that President Roosevelt gave a better demonstration of political skill in this election than he did in his own election two years ago. That is a very high compliment.

The side-tracking of Upton Sinclair was considered superb by all Democratic strategists. So was the delicate handling of the western progressive program.

But far more important than those two minor maneuvers was the way the bankers were deftly coaxed out of the Republican camp. That was the master subterfuge stroke of the campaign. How deeply it hurt may be judged from Republican Chairman Fletcher's astounding announcement a few days later, the significance of which was entirely lost at the time.

In effect, that the bankers may have sold out to the New Deal, but the Republican party would continue to stand for a stable currency and a balanced budget.

That was just about the same as a general announcing publicly that his artillery had deserted to the enemy, but that he was continuing to fight with whatever infantry he had remaining. The boys around the stove believe it was the most important statement of the campaign.

PITCH

Equally skillful from an inner Democratic view was the handling of the cabinet and sub-cabinet cavalry by Mr. Roosevelt.

First, Professor Tugwell was shipped to Europe six weeks before election, with the excuse that he had been slipped on the boat secretly to avoid a sugar suit subpoena. The farm belt was not entrusted even to Agriculture Secretary Wallace, as he was under criticism for idealism. The practical administrator in the AAA, Chester Davis, was dispatched to the Hastings as the main orator.

Wallace made several speeches, as did Farley and Ickes, but the heaviest stumping fell upon Donald Richberg. If you compare Richberg's calming speeches with the kind Tugwell used to make, you will get the new campaign pitch sounded by the New Deal organ grinders.

BANTER

The most revealing story of Mr. Roosevelt was told in Arthur Krook's column in the New York Times recently. Mr. Krook said that ex-Director of the Budget Lew Douglas once became excited in arguing with Mr. Roosevelt about one of the President's proposals. Said Douglas pointedly: "The reasoning behind that proposal is the thinking of a socialist."

Mr. Roosevelt took no notice of the remark at the time, but, days later, he called Douglas on the telephone about another matter and started the conversation off by saying:

"Now, Lew, as one old socialist to another—"

Mr. Douglas is supposed to have related the incident later to a friend, adding: "How can you get sore at a fellow like that!"

NOTES

In the Harding off-year campaign about 3 million dollars was spent. This year, both parties have spent less than half a million.

The Republican strategists were somewhat baffled by Mr. Roosevelt's indirect support of certain independent Republicans. It placed him on their side in some states and left no opportunity for direct, clear-cut Democratic and Republican shooting.

If everything is as one-sided as the Democrats think, the conclusive returns should be in before midnight.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

Financial circles have about as much interest in the outcome of today's elections as a Fiji Islander has in football. Maine put the crusher on their hopes of getting anywhere politically this year and since September they've become resigned to the inevitable.

The only political question that still even a glimmer of concern is whether enough conservatives will be elected to help the President defeat radical legislative proposals that are sure to be offered in 1935. New York believes the East and South will contribute enough of those to prevent cure-all theories from running wild.

Even the Sinclair contest in California fails to stir much excitement. Conservatives would like to see him elected on general principles, but even if he wins they will console themselves with the thought that his efforts to put a radical political philosophy into practice will probably react in their favor.

This indifference doesn't mean that New York has permanently abandoned its hope of regaining political ascendancy. For the present the idea is to string with the President to halt the menace of a rising radical tide. Once this is accomplished it will be a different story. There won't be anything academic about Wall Street's interest in politics two years from now.

STATE

The Democratic state ticket is almost sure to carry New York but paradoxically both wings of the party may suffer a loss of prestige even in victory. Governor Lehman's majority is almost sure to be compared unfavorably with the one he piled up in 1932--which would have something of a black eye for Farley leadership.

That would be O. K. with Tammany except for the probability that the Tiger's pet candidate—Frank Taylor for comptroller—will take a beating from Fusionist McDermid. If the situation develops on these lines it shadows a mad scramble for dominance in the state organization between now and 1936.

The Republicans on the other hand will profit from defeat to the extent of unified party leadership under old guard auspices. This will not be true if some miracle elects Bob Moses—because Moses would take pleasure in busting the upstate machine into slivers.

HELP

Next to the utilities heavy industry is probably more consistently opposed to the New Deal than any other section of American business. Nevertheless the durable goods companies will be special objects of administration solicitude in the coming months.

They will benefit from every measure the government can think up to haul them out of the run. Plans to help the railroads being pushed as much for their sake as for the railroads' own. The increasing emphasis on the housing program is aimed primarily at giving them a boost. If the Securities Act is further amended the main idea will be to promote capital expenditures by making it easier to finance them.

The government's concern is not inspired by affection for U. S. Steel or Baldwin Locomotive. Such companies will get the breaks from Washington chiefly because they hold the master key to re-employment. Experts

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

CEMENT WADING POOL IN PARK IS DEDICATED

FULLERTON, Nov. 6.—A large crowd gathered at the new cement wading pool in Commonwealth park Monday, when city officials and members of Fullerton Kiwanis club dedicated the pool. Following the visit to the pool, the members visited the Fullerton Union High school campus, where under E. A. Ames, plant superintendent, they were shown the result of CWA and SERA projects in the form of a stadium and other buildings on that campus. The group had luncheon at the school cafeteria.

At the wading pool, which was filled with water, the men "tried it out." Work on the pool was done by SERA labor. Kiwanians provided nearly 300 sacks of cement for the pool.

City councilmen assisted in the dedication and were presented the pool by Glenn Lewis, Kiwanis president, in the name of the Kiwanians. Mayor William Hale accepted in the name of the city.

At the high school, Ames showed the group over the campus, and after inspection the group assembled in the cafeteria for luncheon, where Miss Ruth Tilton, head of the music department of the high school, presented the Girls' Glee club. Members of the city council and of the high school board of trustees were guests at lunch.

are unanimous that no appreciable and permanent dent can be made in the ranks of the jobless until heavy industry is back on an even keel.

A keen observer explains the slow progress of the housing program by saying that too many $5000 houses have been sold for nothing down and $35 a month—including 7 per cent interest. This arrangement assures virtually perpetual payments with rentals extra. So he asks how can poor mortals buy more houses?

COPPER
Copper circles predict a general curtailment of American production. Kennecott is expected to cut its output 20 per cent. Calumet & Hecla, Consolidated and Phelps Dodge will probably follow suit. NRA price fixing hasn't been effective because of competition from bootleg copper. Insiders believe American copper supremacy is passing.

ALLIANCE
Informed New Yorkers learn of a new line-up in Eastern Europe with Hungary signing a secret military and economic alliance with Germany. Germany appears to be slowly working out of the isolation imposed by France. It looks as if Germany, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Poland will form a combination opposed to France, Italy and Russia.

A sign of the shift in Hungarian policy is General Goemboes' about-face. Hitherto he has tried to keep a balance between Germany and Italy despite a personal preference for the Nazis. Now he has definitely thrown Mussolini over in favor of Hitler.

MATCHMAKER
A New Yorker named William W. Peak has a curious profession. He acts as confidential agent for brokerage firms which wish to economize by arranging with other houses either for outright mergers or for elimination of competing branch offices, combination of technical staffs and the like. Plenty of firms are interested in these measures as a matter of self-preservation but must use discretion in putting out their feelers.

Mr. Peak's activities have won him the nickname of Wall Street's "matrimonial agency."

SIDELIGHTS
The investment bankers' convention expressed satisfaction because 61 per cent of foreign bonds floated in the U. S. are still paying interest. . . . Critics remark that they're easily satisfied. . . . American Can and Proctor & Gamble are being watched for increased or extra dividends.

Mrs. N. M. Launer Entertains Club

LA HABRA, Nov. 6.—Mrs. N. M. Launer was hostess recently to members and friends of the La-Tarde Fellz club at her home on Whittier boulevard.

The fall motif was carried out in table appointments for the 1 o'clock luncheon and the afternoon was spent at bridge, with scores recorded for the annual prizes.

Guests of the club were Mrs. A. J. Young, Mrs. Edgar Luehm, Mrs. R. F. Frantz, Mrs. C. Jack Zinn, Mrs. R. W. Vanderhoof, Mrs. O. W. Muchow of Fullerton, and Mrs. A. W. McBride. Members present were Mrs. Louis Muchow, Mrs. C. L. Cummings, Mrs. John W. F. Smith, Mrs. L. H. Brewer, Mrs. O. T. Stephens, Mrs. George Soule, Mrs. J. A. Chewing, Mrs. W. F. Holden and Mrs. Grant A. PETITION ASKS FOR MERGER OF TWO DISTRICTS

PLACENTIA, Nov. 6.—A bombshell was tossed into the midst of the Placentia school board meeting Monday night as the members sat at a Valencia High school board, when E. A. Roddeck presented a petition that the board, along with the Fullerton Union High school board, sign a petition to Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, asking for the reuniting of the Valencia and Fullerton Union High school districts into the Fullerton Union High school district.

When the petition was presented, Le Roy Lyon, chairman, suggested that a petition of that nature could not be considered by the board, since it seemed to represent just a small group. Roddeck then presented a roll containing 300 names, signed to the petition.

After due consideration, the board agreed to meet Monday, November 12, at 1:30 for further consideration of the matter. In the meantime, the president of the board said today he desires to proceed immediately to purchase land for the Valencia Union High school. Roddeck declared that he will have 600 signatures to the petition by Monday.

Roddeck, C. G. Teed and Lawrence Meyer agreed that if at a fair and impartial election, the issue for maintaining the high school won, they would agree to back the new school, and thought their constituents would. They declared now is an obvious time for a fair election.

A rumor from that session was to the effect that Warren Bradford suggested that the advice of the superintendent of schools, Ralph Essert, be accepted and that two state men be brought in to district to assist in selecting land. It was also rumored that members of the board suggested they were ready to purchase land now, and felt that two state men could only hold up the issue longer.

Lyon said an interview this morning that he is ready to pass on the site for the new Valencia High school, and even in face the petition asking a reunion with Fullerton school, feels the purchase should be made before Saturday, when the 30-day period agreed on by the board as a limit to the time when land for the high school will be bought, expires. The board agreed to meet Thursday at 8 a. m.

RICHARD WELCH GIVEN ANAHEIM POST SUPPORT

ANAHEIM, Nov. 6.—Richard J. Welch Jr., Riverside attorney and past commander of the Fifth area, was unanimously endorsed as a candidate for the post of department commander of the American Legion last night by Anaheim post. Welch is also a member of the Veterans' Welfare board and was present last night, not in furtherance of his candidacy so much as he was for the purpose of talking over activities of the board.

Welch said that it has been his policy as well as that of the other board members, when a veteran becomes delinquent in payment on state loans on property to make a personal investigation. If the veteran is making a real attempt to meet his obligations but is prevented because of conditions he is carried along until his status improves. In the case of "chiselers" Welch said they are disposed to be lenient.

L. L. "Tex" Middleton was installed as post chaplain last night. Joe Elliott, past commander of Anaheim post, was installing officer. Middleton was elected chaplain succeeding Ted Masterson who recently went to the hospital for one year.

During the business session it was decided that Anaheim post shall enter the drum corps, marching band and a float in the Armistice day parade to be held next Monday in Huntington Beach. Carrying out "The Constitution" theme of this year's parade it was decided that the Anaheim float should illustrate "The Wall of American Legion Ideals." Ray Smith, Dave Proud and Earl Fuller were named members of a committee to design and build the float.

It also was reported during the business session that a present membership in Anaheim post totals 52. This is the greatest progress in membership that the post has made in its history and places the organization even with its quota set for December 20.

An invitation from the White Temple church to attend a special Armistice day service Sunday in a body. The invitation was received and accepted individually. Many members of the post will attend but the post will not go in a body.

SERA STARTS ROAD WORK

FULLERTON, Nov. 6.—Ten SERA men were put to work yesterday on Brea road, east of Spadra road, under the direction of Herman Hiltcher, city engineer. The preliminary work being done is to mark the new right-of-way from Spadra over the hill toward Brea. In this work, many curves will be eliminated.

The money for materials for the improvement is the Fullerton share.

Wilbur S. Tupper To Address Club

PLACENTIA, Nov. 6.—"What's in a Name?" is the title of an address Wilbur S. Tupper, connected with Whittier college, is to give Wednesday afternoon at the regular meeting of Placentia Round Table club.

Associate members of the club, including teachers of the schools, wives of ministers, and wives of teachers, and the librarian, are to be guests.

Hostesses are to be Mrs. A. A. Arnold, Mrs. C. D. Stephens, Miss Emily Cuff, Mrs. Charles Rapp, Mrs. William H. Bates, Mrs. Lloyd Pendleton, Mrs. E. M. Everett and Mrs. Ralph Essert.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR OF ROTARY SPEAKS

ANAHEIM, Nov. 6.—Henry K. Walton, district governor of Rotary International was the honored guest and principal speaker yesterday at the meeting of the Anaheim Rotary club.

In his talk Walton said that the Anaheim club is the eighty-first club that he has visited since July 1. There are 111 clubs in the district which includes California, Nevada and Hawaii. He spoke on the ideals and purposes of Rotary and said that members must "rededicate ourselves to the Rotary Ideals." He stressed community service as the most important service to be rendered by club members. Other ideals of the organization he said are: friendship and fellowship and development of the individual member.

In his talk the speaker stressed the history and influence of Rotary International and an appeal to unite in combating communism climaxing the speaker's talk.

TRAINING WORK DISCUSSED BY CHURCH GROUP

FULLERTON, Nov. 6.—Leaders in the Methodist church met with representatives of the San Diego district at the Fullerton Methodist church Monday for consideration of leadership training.

The morning and afternoon meetings were for ministers of the district and were led by Dr. H. P. Forsyth, of the Chicago office, assisted by Dr. Jesse Corley of the religious education department of Southern California conference; by James McGrivven of the young people's department of the Southern California conference; by Bishop Baker, and many others.

Fact finding concerning education in the church school was presented at one meeting. Experiences were shared and problems of methods and objectives discussed.

Bishop Baker brought an interesting message last night on the need of spiritual training to bring about proper citizenship.

Dr. Forsyth also brought an inspiring address along the same line.

He called attention to the need of adults giving youth a chance to "crusade with Christ" in a world of adult make, and declared that "under the present setup it is impossible, for business, politics, and too often the church, do not want to crusade with Christ."

Forum To Meet On Friday Night

FULLERTON, Nov. 6.—The regular meeting of the Charles Ruby forum will be held Friday instead of Thursday this week. This will be a session in which the parent-teacher association will join.

COLLECTIONS FOR OCTOBER TOTAL $1262

Collections in the city police court and for plumbing, building and electrical licenses totaled $1262.55 for the month of October, it was reported to the city council last night.

Judge J. G. Mitchell showed collections of $486.50 for the street improvement fund and $608.20 for the general fund, to make a total of $945.20.

Seventy plumbing permits for a total valuation of $3154 and eight sewer permits brought collections of $100.50, it was reported by Plumbing Inspector H. O. Crowe. Electrical Inspector W. O. Packard issued 44 permits and collected $74.15 while Building Inspector Sam Preble issued 33 building permits to collect $135 and plaster permits for $5 additional.

WILL RECONSIDER ZONING DECISION

The changing of the zoning ordinance on Bush street between Sixth and Seventh streets came up for discussion at the city council meeting last night, with the board moving to notify the boards of the United Presbyterian church and the Church of the Messiah that a new application for zoning change should be made.

The two churches petitioned in September to have the district changed from first class apartment house to neighborhood business to permit the operation of a barber shop by Hervey R. Marrs. The request was denied by the planning commission because no one appeared to speak for the change and because it felt that business should not be opened up so near the churches and post office.

In the council discussion, it was shown that the two churches owned the entire property, wished to rent the property to secure money for improving the property and show make a new application to the commission.

Sales Ordinance Amendments to Be Made By Council

Amendments to the present city ordinance covering selling of second hand goods and used cars will be proposed in the near future to remove objectionable features, it was reported to the city council last night by City Attorney Clyde Downing.

Downing said that the dealers were agreed on certain changes so that exceptions to the items included in the ordinance could be approved by the council. A recent ordinance requires all goods to be held 21 days before selling, which works a hardship on selling certain types of merchandise, it is said.

POUNDMASTER GIVES REPORT ON ACTIVITIES

As far as the poundmaster is concerned, he has to bother with as many dogs as all the rest of the animals put together.

In a report covering the past 12 months activity of the city pound, Harold D. Pickering, poundmaster, revealed that he has impounded 129 dogs and 721 other animals. Of the dogs collected, he has destroyed 484 and of the other animals taken in custody, he has destroyed 620.

There were 52 animals returned to owners and 264 were given new owners, Pickering reported. There have been 172 dead animals picked up and Pickering has spent $34 hours working at the city pound.

The care of the animals was materially aided several months ago with the erection of new kennels at the pound, which is located on North Bristol street near the Santiago Creek.

May Expand City Suggestion For SERA Project

Suggested by Santa Ana, an SERA project to study municipal ordinances and make a physical inventory of city property will be referred to the Orange County League of Municipalities in several weeks, it was reported to the city council last night.

At the present time, the SERA is starting a municipal survey project for the county league to study methods of city government. When this is finished, the other plan will be suggested to the county league and the supervisor of the municipal survey project just completed.

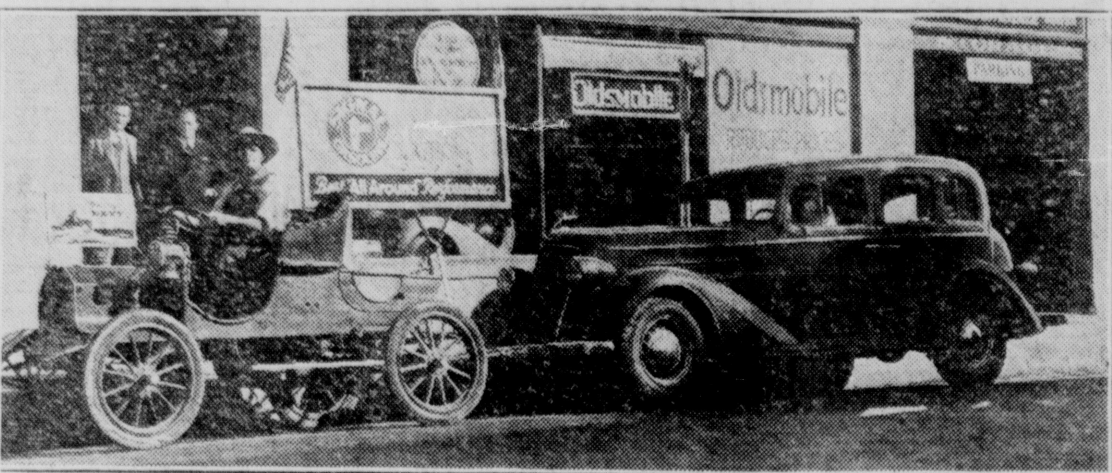

The report to the city council was made by Terrence Halloran, county SERA director and Fred P. Jayne of the professional and technical division.

HORSELESS CARRIAGE CHUGS INTO SANTA ANA

When Ted Billings piloted his 1900 Oldsmobile limousine into Santa Ana yesterday afternoon, the first thing he did was to park in front of a new Oldsmobile at Knox Brothers garage and invite Eugene Knox (left) and Claude Knox (right) to come out and make a comparison of the two models. "Betsy," the 34-year-old chain drive car, is the mascot of the Signal Oil company and has been driven by Billings (seated in car) over the entire state.

PIONEER AUTO MAKES VISIT TO SANTA ANA

Quite a curiosity in 1900 when they christened her "Betsy," an old-fashioned Oldsmobile arrived in Santa Ana yesterday to startle the younger generation and recall "the good old days" to those of the citizenry who had more than two-score years chalked up to their credit.

Ted Billings, who has owned the old chain-drive relic for the past 18 years and still drives it all over the state as the mascot of the Signal Oil company, chugged up to the Register office to give the auto editor and all comers a spin in his horseless carriage.

"I came to Santa Ana at the request of L. L. Hood, Signal gasoline distributor and Knox Brothers, Oldsmobile dealers here," Billings remarked as he doffed his straw hat and wiped his brow with a red handkerchief. "I calculate as how old Betsy has taken me into darn near every town in the state and I'm headed for San Diego next. Oh, it'll take me several days to get down there, for I cruise along at 15 miles an hour, but we ain't afraid of no long trips."

An inspection of his vehicle revealed a buggy body, a one-cylinder motor which turned over remarkably quiet, wagon springs, brass headlamps and headrail, horsehair seat, and small wheels cased in small motorcycle tires.

Under the tiny hood was a small gasoline tank, can of water for cooling and a few minor parts.

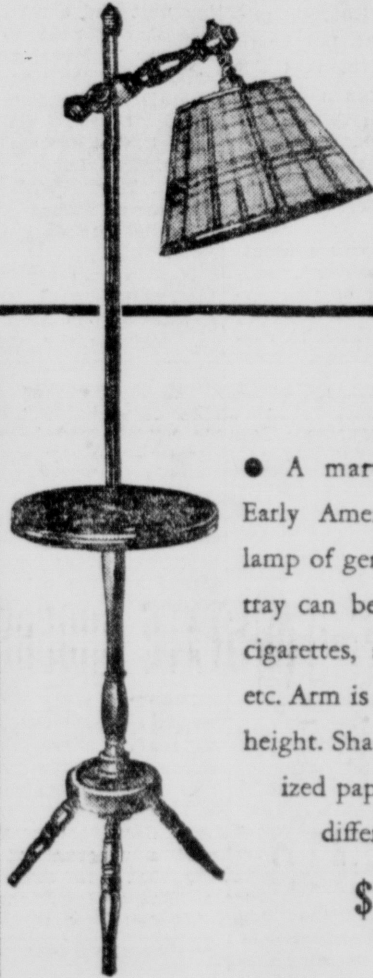

One of the remarkable facts concerning Betsy was that it still had the original brake bands on the rear wheels and only one new set of springs had ever been put on its lone cylinder. Back in the old days the factory made so few cars that each was given a name, hence the "Betsy" appendage to Billings' machine. He started driving it to work 18 years ago in Los Angeles and attracted so much attention in late years that he achieved considerable notoriety in publicity and movie work.

Oh yes, Betsy is a famous movie star. She starred in "Sunny," "From Hickville to New York" and others and is frequently used with noted cinema celebrities. Many a comedian has turned the big crank on the side of the top-heavy, midget-tired horseless bug.

"Yep, last year the Oldsmobile people tried to trade me a new car for old Betsy," Billings commented as he shined up a brass hubcap. "I got in the front seat and tried to look out, but they only gave you a little port hole, about twice the size of your hat. There's a lot of instruments on the dashboard that are supposed to tell you where you're going, I guess, but I'd rather be able to see where I'm going.

"Now, old Betsy here, hasn't even got a windshield to get dusty and obscure your vision. I wouldn't drive one of these new-fangled things. No siree, not Ted Billings."

Billings confided that he got about 22 miles to the gallon with ordinary gasoline but averages 27 with Signal tetraethyl. It didn't daunt him a bit to park his ancient gas buggy in front of a shiny new Oldsmobile sedan at Knox Brothers and he only laughed when a bystander wisecracked, "Get a horse!"

DRIVE AGAINST RATS TO START HERE FRIDAY

Santa Ana rats will face a trained crew of rat exterminators this week when County Health Inspector E. E. Frisby and 17 SERA workers start work Friday on an intensive rodent control drive.

The rat killing is part of a county-wide SERA project approved several weeks ago and will last here from three to four months, it is reported. Traps will be set in the business, industrial and residential districts and requests from home owners and merchants will be welcomed, although it is planned to cover every part of the city during the campaign.

City Engineer J. L. McBride reported to the city council last night that it will cost the city about $5 per week to supply bait for the traps.

McBride pointed out that another rodent control drive held here about a year ago had educated merchants and homeowners to the ravages of the rats and made it easier to conduct a war against the pests. When hundreds of rats were trapped daily, individuals began to cooperate by buying traps and assisting with the work, he said.

BUSINESS HOUSES TO CLOSE DURING ARMISTICE PARADE

Phil M. Brown, manager of the Business Men's Association of Santa Ana, today reaffirmed the decision made by his board of directors to have local stores close for two hours on Armistice Day November 12 to permit employees and others to see the parade at Huntington Beach.

Local stores, it has been decided, will be closed from 10:30 a. m. until 12:30 p. m. in accordance with an agreement which the Business Men's group made with the American Legion. Nearly all communities in the Southland are doing practically the same thing, Brown said.

Minimum Of Home Study Is Ordered

"The great business of childhood is play!"

"Six hours work per day is growing to be regarded as enough for a laboring man, so we feel that it also is enough for children," said Principal H. G. Nelson, of Julia Lathrop Junior High school, in explaining today why no home work is required of students below the ninth grade.

Eye-strain and resultant nervous strain, which might result from too much night study, affects mental hygiene, and is one of the reasons why home study is not required in the Santa Ana schools of pupils in the elementary grades, and two lower classes of Junior High school.

"We have arranged 55-minute periods, which provides enough time for study as well as recitation," said Nelson.

Variation in home conditions, which may not give all pupils an equal chance, if home work is required, was another reason for eliminating that phase, Nelson explained.

"A different situation exists with respect to the higher grades," he continued. "It becomes necessary for a student to learn to study independently, as he begins to prepare himself for higher education."

"So when the ninth grade is reached, we are not quite so careful to avoid home work, but we still restrict it to one subject each night. That breaks the student in gradually to the home work that will be required in the higher grades."

"But for the younger pupils, we remember that childhood is play-time. We also have found, from investigation, that many families are living in three-room houses, and some children are underprivileged. That would mean unequal opportunities, if home work was required."

"Mental hygiene proves both mental and physical injury from attempts to study in adverse home conditions of poor lighting, ventilation and family distractions."

"By not requiring regular home study, it is possible for teachers to ask those pupils who need it, to do extra drill upon subjects in which they may have difficulty."

HONOR COUPLE ON 25TH ANNIVERSARY

SMELTZER, Nov. 6.—With their 25th wedding anniversary as the incentive, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Michl, of Huntington Beach boulevard, were honored with a surprise party at their Los Angeles home recently. Friends and relatives of the couple gathered for dinner, with the dining room decorated with the same hand made flowers and vines that had been used at the wedding supper in 1909.

Those included as guest hosts at the party were the following close friends: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Colard and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warner, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. White, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bradis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Colard, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tower, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hansen, Mrs. Elizabeth Krouse and daughter, Mrs. Hannah Cobb, Mrs. Martha Schiller, Mrs. Mary J. C. OF C. TO MEET

BUENA PARK, Nov. 6.—Residents of the community are urged to attend the meeting of the chamber of commerce scheduled for Wednesday evening at the Civic building.

A report concerning the Federal Housing act will be given. Members of the committee in charge of the work in Buena Park are Richard Nelson, chairman; Carl Brenner and Bert Wells.

CITY P.-T. A. MEET TO BE HELD THURSDAY

Regular monthly meeting of the Santa Ana Council of Parents and Teachers, scheduled to be held today, will be held instead on Thursday in the Y.W.C.A. rooms here, it was announced by Mrs. Dale Elliott.

Registrations will start at 9 a. m. and the business session will begin promptly at 9:30 a. m. Because there are three speakers on the program who will speak at the meeting, which also will take the form of a health conference, the meeting has been thrown open to the public and all who are interested were urged to attend.

Mrs. Max Holmes, chairman of the council health committee, will be in charge of the meeting and will introduce the speakers. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon, and those who plan to stay for the luncheon were asked to bring their own table service.

Mrs. Eloise Haffort, Pasadena social service worker, will discuss the subject, "Social Hygiene" as one of the featured speakers. Dr. K. H. Sutherland, Orange county health officer, will tell of plans for a tuberculosis clinic to be held in the schools. Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth will talk on the latest developments in experiments regarding the effect of alcohol on persons who drive automobiles.

DIRT OFFER BEFORE COUNCIL WEDNESDAY

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 6.—Inability on the part of the city to finance improvements incidental to the undertaking may prevent the city council from accepting an offer of right of 23,000 cubic yards of free dirt from the state highway commission, the dirt to have been used for the extension of Gleneyre street across Sleepy Hollow and Blue Bird canyon, inquired at the city hall revealed today.

Because of the fact that the highway commission is urging a prompt reply to its offer, made necessary as it is intended to include the removal and hauling of the dirt in a contract to be let by the state, the matter will again be brought before the council next Wednesday night for final decision.

Speer To Give Lecture On Parks

Marion Spear, of Huntington Beach, will show colored motion picture slides and will give a lecture on the national parks in the Southwest, including Bryce canyon, Zion National park and the Grand canyon, at the weekly travel class at 7:15 o'clock tonight at Julia Lathrop Junior high school.

Sponsored by the adult education department, the programs are arranged by Julia Ann Hyde, manager of the travel department of the Commercial National bank. No charge is made for the lectures, and the public is invited.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

HANSEN, Nov. 6.—Observing the 18th birthday anniversary of their son, John Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cook were hosts at a surprise dinner party held at their home on Ball road recently.

All of the guests were members of the family. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peters and children, Ellen Jane and Charles; Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell and daughter, Joan; Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cook, and the honoree, John Cook.

Elevating Incidents

New Yorkers became acutely aware of the importance of vertical transportation as a result of the strike of elevator operators in crowded midtown skyscrapers. Tenants were forced to climb hundreds of feet of stairs and traffic in the streets was tied up, as shown in the upper picture, when delivery trucks were unable to unload because elevators were not being operated. Below Sam Schiff (left) and Ben Silver give out with only two more flights of stairs to climb to their offices.

53 ARRESTS ON DRUNK COUNTS MADE IN MONTH

Fifty-three arrests for drunkenness were made by Santa Ana police in October as compared to only 41 for the same month a year ago, it was shown in a report released today by the police department.

Although the October total for intoxication arrests fell short of the all-time record set in September, when 79 persons were jailed, it was considerably more than 34 total for August and 39 total for July. There were five drunken drivers jailed last month and two persons were arrested for violations of the liquor laws.

Other arrests made by the police department in October were: assault, 3; investigation of arson, 1; battery, 1; disturbing the peace, 2; gambling, 1; petty theft, 4; vagrancy, 2; California Vehicle Act, 43; city traffic ordinances, 109; city plumbing ordinance, 2; and committing a public nuisance, 1.

STATE ORDERS GAS METERS TESTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—The State Railroad commission has instituted a program of gas meter testing that will cover the whole state. The order for the investigation follows recent meter tests made by the engineering department of the railroad commission which disclosed that gas meters of a certain type in use by some of the large gas utilities of the state were registering fast.

Subsequent investigation, it is believed, will result in refunds to the gas consumers of those utilities of over $20,000 for past usage and a future saving of an additional $50,000 through the removal and adjustment of faulty meters.

Engineers of the railroad commission explained that the error in the meters was due to the fact that they were installed to measure artificial gas and when used for natural gas, which is much drier gas than the artificial product, a difference in correct measuring ability progressively developed. This change was at first not noticeable, but recent tests have shown that it has developed to a point that makes a state investigation of these meters necessary for the proper protection of consumers.

refreshments of birthday cake decorated in orange and black frosting and ice cream were served to 13 guests. The honoree was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

BAND TO GIVE CONCERTS IN PARK SUNDAYS

Sunday afternoon band concerts in Birch park by the SERA band are expected to start next Sunday, following approval of the city council last night to a proposition offered by W. W. Wieman, project supervisor for the SERA band.

Wieman reported that cold weather was preventing many persons from attending the Friday evening concerts and that an afternoon schedule would be of more benefit. The council acted accordingly and offered the use of Birch Park on Sunday afternoons, providing there was no conflict with other meetings.

It is expected that the program will start at 2:30 o'clock.

NEW ANAHEIM FIRM IS INCORPORATED

A copy of articles of incorporation for Scott and Borden, Inc., Anaheim, has been filed with County Clerk J. M. Backe, showing that the corporation is formed for developing and dealing in farm lands, orchards, packing houses, and other realty development.

The three directors are V. M. Borden, T. V. Scott and Allen Hughes, all of Anaheim. The company will commence business on a stated capital of $1000, according to the articles. Its 2500 shares of stock have no nominal par value.

Play Is Given By Children's Relief Board Will Meet

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 6.—The Costa Mesa Epworth league presented a play at the First M. E. church Sunday night, the scene depicting a bar room and gambling hall where a youth, playing at the gambling tables, was touched by church music.

The men's quartet of the Costa Mesa church and Mr. and Mrs. Bennett of the Costa Mesa church presented vocal numbers. A number of Costa Mesa people attended the program. Mrs. Alice Eastman, of Costa Mesa, directed the play and gave a talk and a group of poetic readings. Following the services the local league members of this city entertained the visitors at a fellowship hour in the church.

Members of the board of directors and subscribers of five dollars or more, today were extended an invitation to attend an annual meeting of the Crippled Children's Relief association of Orange county Friday at noon in La Casa Trabuco cafe.

Luncheon will be served at noon. Earl S. Morrow, Santa Ana, today asked those who plan to be present to notify the secretary at 123 South Lemon street Anaheim, by tomorrow. Election of officers will feature the business session.

Past Calumpit Leader Is Complimented at Farewell Surprise

Members of Calumpit camp and auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, staged an enjoyable party Friday night for Charles W. Kincaid, past commander of Calumpit camp, and his family, who are to leave soon to make their home in Oceanside.

The guest group arrived at the Kincaid home, 1233 South Broadway, in a body, taking their hosts completely by surprise, as plans had been made secretly for the affair. Mrs. Elinor Shaw and Mrs. Nannie Reed, president and secretary of the auxiliary, had engineered the party, planning a refreshment course of sandwiches, cake and coffee to be served as the evening drew to a close.

They had arranged also for entertainment, and card tables were speedily set in place for an evening of bridge and 500.

In moving to Oceanside, Mr. Kincaid will be transferred to that station as pumper for the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. He has been with the company for 22 years, almost 15 years of the time having been spent in Santa Ana. The Santa Ana plant is to be abandoned, the railroad securing its water from the city.

Camp and Auxiliary members who took part in the farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Kincaid included in addition to Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Reed, Messrs. and Mesdames Harry Catherman, Charles H. Cook, Marjorie C. Cooper, A. P. Dresser, James Fitzpatrick, Forrest Gay, Oscar Kurtz, Charles A. Lindquist, John Markwalder, Hamilton Moberly, James A. Randle, Frank P. Rowe, Charles A. Waffie, Charles W. Winter, Charles F. Wood, George V. Area, Charles E. Dixon, Mesdames Ruth E. Hawley, Ruth Helmer, Ruth Hess, Emma King Wassum, Rose Wheeler, Miss Geraldine Hess, Master Robert James Wassum and Colonel J. Lewis.

Former Santa Anan Has Talent Recognized

Of much interest to Santa Ana friends of Mrs. Hugh Anderson of Palo Alto, who will be recalled as Miss Emma Richards, talented young violinist of this city, was recent announcement of her having been chosen to the post of assistant concertmaster of Stanford University Symphony orchestra.

This group is composed of professional and semi-professional musicians of communities adjacent to the university as well as such university students as are able to qualify. Mrs. Anderson, whose marriage occurred June 30 in Stanford Memorial chapel, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Richards, 816 French street. She was especially prominent in musical circles here, appearing as violinist in solo, trio, violin ensemble and symphony orchestra work. Her violin training was received under Elwood Bear, and has been the subject of much favorable comment since she went north, both from Mr. Haug, concertmaster of the Stanford Symphony, and from Mr. Allen, head of the music department of the University.

In addition to her work with the symphony she is to give a violin group on the Sunday night recital program at the Memorial chapel on November 25. Among Mrs. Anderson's interesting contacts in the north has been that with Herbert Hoover, former president of the United States. He presented her with an autographed copy of his book, "Challenge to Liberty."

250 Students Attend Annual Soph-Frosh Dance

Junior college freshmen were guests of sophomores Saturday night when the annual Soph-Frosh prom was held in Veterans' hall. Approximately 250 students attended the semi-formal affair.

Programs of flowered paper presented to each couple carried out the autumn motif of decorations. The hall was decked with asters, chrysanthemums, and potted palms. Colored lights and a canopy of yellow and red crepe paper streamers above the dance floor made an effective setting for dancing. Music was furnished by Ray Ramon's orchestra and Ann Shaeffer, vocalist.

A highlight of the evening came when balloons and confetti were released from their cache above the dance floor and showered down upon the dancers.

Cider was served during the evening. All arrangements for the affair were made by sophomore class officers under leadership of Glenn Bishop, president.

Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Robert Northcross, Dr. Murray Bates, Messrs. and Mesdames L. B. Beaman, Frank A. Henderson, Calvin C. Flint, J. Russell Bruff, T. H. Glenn, and the Misses Agnes Todd Miller and Carol Eskine.

Santa Anans Attend Bridge Club Session

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wagner and James Gill of this city were bridge club members attending a party Friday in the Artesia home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wright. Others in the group were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ambury and Miss Lois Jester, Laguna Beach; Robert Stevens, Beverly Hills.

Winners in the evening's contest were Mrs. Wagner and Mr. Ambury. Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served, with chrysanthemums and cottonseed serving as decorations. Miss Staveland will be hostess at the next meeting.

School Club Arranges Dinner to Honor Teaching Staff

The annual dinner and reception to the teachers of Hoover school was made a pleasant affair of Friday night when Mrs. John Ball, president of the Hoover school club, and her club members entertained in the school.

There were 118 present to share the event, and to find places about the one long table arranged the length of the upper corridor of the building. Mrs. Fred Forgy and her committee had charge of decorations, and used brass and copper bowls of brilliant persimmons and guavas, and matching candlesticks with bright hued tapers.

It was Mrs. Ball's privilege to introduce the teachers, including Miss Isabel Lindsay, the new principal, who came to Hoover from Spurgeon school. There was a graceful corsage bouquet for each teacher, and for Miss Hazel Nell Benius, who had served so efficiently as principal last year, and for Mrs. T. E. Stephenson, accompanying Mr. Stephenson, guest speaker of the evening.

Early history of Orange county provided Mr. Stephenson with the theme for his talk which held the fascinated attention of everyone present. He went into the state history, emphasizing the fact that there was not an occurrence of major importance that did not have a direct bearing on Orange county history. His accounts of some of these stirring events, supplemented by the many pictures he showed with a projecting apparatus, made a most interesting evening.

Further entertainment was provided by that unique musical organization, the Junior College Men's Trumpet quartet, directed by Leland Auer. The musicians placed a series of three numbers, and were received with enthusiasm.

Dinner Hosts Serve Wild Duck to Guests

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Reyer were hosts at wild duck dinner Friday night in their home, 2324 North Broadway.

Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Champion, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Probst, this city; Mrs. Lena Licht, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Stanley Alexander and daughter Dorothy, of Tucson, Ariz.

Dinner was served at a table centered with a bouquet of yellow baby chrysanthemums which were wreathed in smilax. During the evening Mr. Champion screened motion pictures of Zion and Brice National parks, as well as scenes of deep-sea fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Jordan, 1606 South Van Ness avenue, are home from an extensive trip through the east. They spent some time in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Kentucky.

Dr. Mabel Vance Tremaine, 420 West First street, and Mrs. David E. Davies of Los Angeles have returned from Date Palm Beach on the Salton Sea, where they spent the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Mulick, 121 St. Andrew's place, have returned from a vacation stay in the San Bernardino mountains.

Miscellaneous Shower Given for Newly-Married Couple

When Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart entertained a group of friends recently in their ranch home on North Grand avenue, they paid a post-nuptial compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Othel H. Johnson, bridegroom and bride of a few weeks.

An amusing game was played, with the result that Mrs. Robert Emerson won consolation prize. A program arranged for the occasion included piano solos by Miss Tereasa Koonce, Miss Wynona Sieweke and Miss Edith Sieweke; readings by Mrs. M. McNeal and Mrs. Robert Emerson. The Rev. T. W. Ringland made a talk, presenting Mr. and Mrs. Johnson with a Bible on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Sieweke, and with a basket of miscellaneous gifts from the guests.

With the assistance of Mesdames O. C. Dennie, Maud McCree and Merle Smith, the hostess served a desert course. Baskets of autumn flowers were used in decorating.

Present with Mr. and Mrs. Sieweke and Mr. and Mrs. Othel H. Johnson were Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Dennie, parents of Mrs. Johnson, the former Miss Evelyn Dennie; the Rev. T. W. Ringland, Harold Jackson and Mesdames William Hart, Jan Harris, H. Sands, B. Mustard, W. I. Jackson, C. R. Imm, M. McNeal, Carl Morron, H. A. Colby, Robert Emerson, H. C. Nail, J. H. Noble, S. A. Keister, N. Burgess, P. Gammell, Maud McGee, Merle Smith; the Misses Ellen Tillotson, Tereasa Koonce, Wynona Sieweke, Edith Sieweke, Iole May Sieweke, Robert Emerson, Zane H. Morton, Doris June Mustard.

Linen Shower Follows Announcement Of December Wedding

Coming within a few days after announcement was made of the marriage last December of Miss Loyce Waldren and Wilson Seaford, was a shower given late last week when Miss Evelyn Coffman entertained in her home, 818 Hickory street, in compliment to the bride of almost a year ago.

Games were played during the evening with the result that Mrs. Seaford and Mrs. Clyde Higgins won prizes for holding high and low honors. Yellow and lavender chrysanthemums centered tables at the refreshment interval, when a two course menu was served by the hostess' mother and sister, Mrs. M. H. Coffman and Mrs. Everett Cornwell.

Mrs. Seaford was showered with linens as the last feature of the evening. In addition, she received a set of dishes from her mother, Mrs. W. Roy Waldren, holds a membership.

Present were Mesdames Wilson Seaford, W. Roy Waldren, Corwin Frazee, Louis Pratt, Herbert Meyer, Clyde Higgins and the Misses Virginia Means, Fannie Nell Clayton, Nellie Stratton, Frances Roper, Velma Forrester, Jeannette Roby, this city; Miss Arlene Malters, Anaheim; Miss Madeline McKnight, Laguna Beach; the Misses Eunice and Vivian Blanchard, Orange, with the hostess, Miss Coffman.

Golden Wedding Event Celebrated With Family Gathering

The presence in Santa Ana of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Girdner of Los Angeles for a few days' visit in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gold, 1245 South Broadway, gave Mrs. Gold opportunity to stage a family reunion Sunday in celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of her parents, an event of November 2.

Only one daughter was absent, with her family, from the happy reunion. Mrs. J. C. Sipes of Great Bend, Kans. She and Mr. Sipes and their daughters, the Misses Sue Ann and Mary Alice Sipes, were in California last year on a visit to their relatives and could not return for the golden wedding observance.

Mr. and Mrs. Gold had planned a turkey dinner in celebration, and the table was inviting with its flowers surrounding a towering wedding cake crowned with a small bride and groom.

Covers were laid for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Gold, with their two sons, Jackie and Billie Gold; the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Girdner, Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Girdner of Huntington Beach and their sons, Teddy and Jimmie, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Girdner and their two sons, Gene and Ivan Girdner and his bride. The marriage of I. W. Girdner and Miss Mary Keen took place in the bride's home in Milford, Mo., November 2, 1884. Mr. Girdner was a contractor, and he and his wife made their home in Kansas for many years, coming to Los Angeles following his retirement eight years ago.

Section Hears Talk on Changes in Musical Composition

"Changes in the Art of Music Composing During the Past 100 Years" provided Miss Carolyn Haughton with an interesting theme for discussion last week at a meeting of Ebell Music, Art and Drama section held in the clubhouse.

Miss Haughton demonstrated the basis for many changes in musical compositions by playing measures from selections representative of the various eras. She gave to her listeners an understanding of the beauties in the newer forms of music.

Mrs. C. F. Crose and Miss Preble Drake served tea at the afternoon's close. During this pleasant interval, members continued an informal discussion of the subject which Miss Haughton had presented in so enlightening a manner.

Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch conducted a short business meeting.

Neighbors of Woodcraft

Election of officers was of chief importance to members of Santa Ana circle 395, Neighbors of Woodcraft, at the meeting late last week in Modern Woodman hall.

Officers thus selected to serve after installation ceremonies at an early date were Margaret E. Cason, P. G. N.; Abbie Young, G. N.; Clara Gaudin, magician; Lilian Miller, advisor; Dora Morrow, clerk; Omo Arnold, Banker; Florence Erthal, attendant; Minella Patmor, captain of guards; Jennie Garris, flag bearer; Betty Cornblom, inner sentinel; Sophie Blom, outer sentinel; George Ferguson, musician; Margie Erickson, Nellie Brough and Lyndon Young, managers, and Annie Westlake, correspondent.

Officers and guards of Pacific circle 390, Venice, were guests at the meeting and conducted the ceremonial of initiation whereby three new members were added to the host circle. There were several other guests representing circles in Ontario, Oakland and Crescent Bay.

Business affairs of the evening were followed by a social interval during which refreshments were served.

Parent-Teachers

Woodrow Wilson P.-T. A. entertained with a benefit party on Friday night in the school, where 16 tables of cards were in play. Prizes were won by Mrs. Perchus Church and A. Hamblet, high; Mrs. H. C. Brown and R. Carson Smith, second high; Mrs. W. E. Tatum and A. E. Furlington, low. During the evening guitar music was played by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Layton and son, Glenn Layton. Refreshments of pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream were served with coffee.

Honor Guest at Dinner Observes 95th Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Porter C. Edmunds' home at 1850 East Fruit street was scene of a happy gathering Saturday when a dinner was served in honor of the 95th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Edmunds' father, J. M. Talcott of 1910 North Main street.

Rooms were decked with baskets of chrysanthemums, an especially lovely bouquet in orchid tones being presented to the honor guest. A low bowl of pastel-hued flowers graced the long dinner table, which was lighted with ivory tapers. Two other daughters, Mrs. P. G. Bessel and Mrs. Oscar S. Witt had provided a decorated birthday cake frosted in white and yellow with the dates 1839-1934. The birthday celebrant cut the first slice of the confection.

Mr. Talcott received many gifts from his relatives and friends, several of whom had called earlier in the day to extend their best wishes.

Those asked to share the dinner with Mr. Talcott and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Edmunds, were Mr. Talcott's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Talcott, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Bessel, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar S. Witt, Mrs. Florence Trickey, W. T. Merigold and James West, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Talcott, Anaheim; Mrs. Lettie Wood, Mannsville, New York.

Announcements

Ebell Modern Literature section will meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Lawrence D. Coffing, 2437 North Park boulevard. Louis Danz of Anaheim will present the program which will feature the first review of his book, "Zarathustra, Jr.," just off the press. He has promised to read passages from the book as an additional feature of interest.

Southwest section members of First Presbyterian Aid society have announced a benefit program for Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the church basement. Mrs. Roy Johnson, chairman, and her committee have arranged musical and dramatic numbers to include a playlet, "The Hat Shop," by members of the section under direction of Mrs. H. O. Garlock; songs and readings, together with numbers by out-of-town talent, including Mrs. Hensley's orchestra of Midway City; songs by Ellen and Katherine Collins of Anaheim, and whistling solos by Lawrence Honold of Huntington Beach. There will be no admission but a silver offering will be taken.

Ebell Fourth Household Economics section will meet Friday at 1 p. m. for a covered-dish luncheon in the clubhouse. Mesdames W. L. Dugan, S. J. Hales and Miss Lavoy Carter will be hostesses.

Hoping to raise a nice sum with which to carry on welfare work, members of Junior Ebell Child Study section will entertain with a benefit card party Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the clubhouse. Dessert will be served preceding auction and contract bridge play. There will be prizes. Those planning to attend should make reservations immediately with Mrs. R. C. Harris, who reports that several tables already have been engaged for the evening.

Unitarian Women's Alliance will have an all day sewing meeting tomorrow in the church parlors. Covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon.

White Shrine drill team will meet tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. for practice in Masonic temple.

The Week of Prayer now in progress in Spurgeon Memorial M. E. church, South, will have as special features tomorrow afternoon and evening and Thursday afternoon, the leadership of Mrs. Turner McBain of San Diego. Mrs. McBain is prominent in Southern California Women's Missionary society of the church, and will conduct afternoon services at 2:30 o'clock and Wednesday night's services at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Lena G. Hewitt, secretary of Daughters of Union Veterans Past Presidents club, today announced that the organization will meet for luncheon Thursday at 12:45 p. m. at Clarkson's cafe, North Broadway street. The group will go from there to the home of Mrs. George Smith, 916 French street, for the remainder of the afternoon.

Spurgeon Memorial Missionary society will have an all day meeting tomorrow in the church. Covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Homesteaders Lodge

Entertaining at a benefit party late the past week, Homesteaders' Life association staged a very successful affair in keeping with the prevailing holiday spirit of Halloween.

The large crowd assembled for the party enjoyed the various features including a fish pond presided over by Mrs. Laura Sanborn and Mrs. Louise Calkins; fortune telling booth with Maud Clayton as the gypsy in charge; candy booth in charge of Mrs. Charlotte Lord, Betty Randle and Nellie Trickey, and the culinary department where home-made pumpkin pies and doughnuts were accompanied by coffee.

The committee preparing dinner in the hall was highly complimented for the success of efforts of its members, Mrs. Correne Eldridge, Mrs. Nellie Ellingson, Mrs. Dorothy Kastorff and Mrs. Laura Sanborn. A feature of the dinner was a large cake baked and presented by Kathryn Vardy, who presented it to past and present officers. It was in the form of a book with leaves and markers for each officer. There was unanimous decision from the various officers, to present the cake unto the new president, R. M. Hartley.

The evening ended with dancing, enjoyed by 150 members and guests.

Church Societies

First Baptist
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fink, 409 Orange avenue, was scene of an old-fashioned singing party Sunday night when members of the Married People's class of First Baptist church took part in a series of semi-monthly events.

Richard Martin was piano accompanist for the evening, with Ernest Ashland leading the group singing. Mrs. E. U. Farmer assisted the hostess in serving refreshments, while Mrs. George Lippincott and Mrs. Ray Echols poured tea and coffee. Chrysanthemums, festoons of ivy and persimmon leaves brightened the home for the affair.

Participants were Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Edna Dickinson, Mrs. Earl Frevert, Mrs. Alvin Rohrs, Mrs. Russell Crouse and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Evan Ovinga, Messrs. and Mesdames E. U. Farmer, George Lippincott, G.

Wilson, Ray Echols, T. C. Garrett, Harry Harlow, Charles Harper, C. E. Hays, John J. Vernon, Sam Fink, John C. James, Ray Boyd, Ernest Ashland, Kenneth King, E. J. Opper, F. W. Sanford, Richard Martin, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Dean and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Fink.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Ovinga will be hosts at the next meeting Sunday evening, November 18.

Luther League

Miss Genevieve Hanson was appointed chairman of Christmas seal sales at a monthly meeting of the Luther League of St. Peter Lutheran church held Friday evening in the church basement. Proceeds from the sale will go to the San Antonio Lutheran sanatorium in Texas.

Charles Tuma, vice president, conducted the meeting in the absence of Miss Janice Yarnar, president. Plans were made to present a play some time in December.

The Rev. H. W. Meyer closed the meeting with prayer and Scripture reading.

Members present were the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Ehlen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tuma and the Misses Wilma Zentner, Serena Lehman, Genevieve Hanson, Mary Kroft, Lily Schultz, Mildred Nordstrom, Justine Kroft, Phyllis Sorenson, Virginia Karstorf, Arlene Sorenson and Messrs. Clarence Barstien, Joe Koons, Albert Kroft, Walter Sorenson, Kenneth Sorenson, Leroy Zentner and Louis Ehlen.

Twenty-eight thousand rifle and machine gun bullets were fired for every man killed in the World War.

SHE WAS NEEDLESSLY EMBARRASSED

It happened at the Bridge Party, Mrs. W. was short of cash and thought her last season's dress would do but she made a big mistake. When she saw the other women in smart new Fall dresses she certainly felt embarrassed—and it was all uncalculated for. Mrs. W. could have opened a charge account at Sender's Smart Shop—Could have worn her new Fall dress at once—and paid for it in small, convenient amounts as she received her income.

Don't be embarrassed by out-of-date clothes—Come in and open a charge account at Sender's Smart Shop. No red tape—No unnecessary delays.

THIS PRETTY HOUSE FROCK
ADDS A FRILL FOR CHIC

PATTERN 2057
BY ANNE ADAMS

Even a burnt cake shouldn't lower your morale if you are wearing this spirited frock, for husbands are apt to be much more lenient toward burnt cakes than they are toward unattractive clothes. This pretty dress has a becoming frill which sets off the youthfully round neckline but if you are of sterner stuff perhaps you'd rather leave it off. The pattern may be made up either way. Smart buttons march up the center of the blouse, the sleeves are daintily puffed and the skirt is as straight as the newest fashions require. Best of all it is so simply cut that even a beginner at sewing should do herself proud at it.

Pattern 2057 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 38 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Order your WINTER PATTERN BOOK. Order it NOW! The new ANNE ADAMS models are stunning, and so easy to make! Designs for all ages and all occasions. PRICE OF BOOK, FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Ceremony Has Setting In Home of Bridegroom's Parents

In a charming floral setting arranged in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Haskell, 314 East Santa Clara avenue, Clifford T. Haskell, son of the home, and Miss Velma

Ryan exchanged wedding vows Sunday evening, November 4, at a ceremony of much beauty, conducted by the Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of First Christian church.

A trellis of orange blossoms and ferns provided the altar effect where the young people, unattended for the rite, stood on a beautiful camel-hair rug, loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Clyde Walker. The rug had already been used by no less than 37 other happy couples. Baskets of yellow and lavender flowers were placed about the home, and included many fine chrysanthemums from the Haskell garden.

CALLS ALL-BRAN NATIONAL NATURAL LAXATIVE

Delicious Cereal Checked His Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Daniels:

"For many years I have been habitually constipated, and have used all sorts of laxatives. So, in fairness to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I heartily claim it to be a most wonderful remedy for constipation."

"Need I tell you that I have long since ceased using laxatives? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the National Natural Laxative. If it were used by every family in the United States for breakfast, we would have a much healthier race of people."—Mr. John Daniels, 1090 Third St., North Bergen, N. J.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this food much pleasanter than risking pills and drugs? Two table-spoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Give Testimony In Contested Divorce Trial

Supper Takes Place Following Recital

Her husband had her confined in a sanitarium at Compton, which she left at night, being forced to walk most of the way home in the darkness to Santa Ana, Mrs. Ethel K. Crowder, of Fifth street and Buena road, told Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday at the contested trial of her divorce suit against Lloyd J. Crowder.

Later, said Mrs. Crowder, her husband threatened to have her sent to the Norfolk asylum. He has spent most of his time away from home during the last two years, preferring a life in the desert, she alleged.

They have property which the wife estimates to be worth about $20,000, including real estate and a garage property at Fifth and Buena road.

The couple married at Yuma in 1919 and separated last July 15. The trial yesterday was continued to November 13 when court adjournment found the case unfinished.

Foothill Group Program Friday

ORANGE, Nov. 6.—A special feature of the meeting of the Foothill Farm center Home department at the home of Mrs. Royal J. Mueller, of Tustin street south of Santa Clara avenue, Friday, will be a talk by Evelyn Robinson, of La Habra, who will speak on interior decorating.

A covered dish luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m. and each one attending has been asked to bring some sort of hand work. The section is planned as a social one to permit members to become better acquainted.

AUXILIARY TO HAVE 2 FLOATS IN H. B. PARADE

ORANGE, Nov. 6.—Plans were made at a meeting of the American Legion auxiliary Monday afternoon for the entry of two floats in the Armistice day parade at Huntington Beach November 12. Mrs. Mary Lydick and Mrs. Ella Phillips, who head the committee on the floats, reported that two trucks have been secured and that one float will represent "Flanders Field" which will be the auxiliary entry, and the other will represent a school room, and it will be the entry of the two junior auxiliaries.

Mrs. Flora Fairbairn presided at the meeting and requested members to bring old shoes, clothing and other articles of wearing apparel to be used in welfare work.

The meeting of the county council at Anaheim November 13 was announced. Mrs. Fairbairn, Mrs. Celia Bryant, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Ollie Kurtz and Mrs. Clara Hodson will attend.

The Mothers' club of the auxiliary met in the morning for a covered dish luncheon and sewing session. Mrs. Jennie Bell presided.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged intestines or constipation.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help the intestines in a soothing, healing way. When the bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief.—(Adv.)

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

THE TINYMIES

The little giant ran real fast and Windy shouted, "You may last a long time, but so will I. You may as well give in. As long as I keep near to you, no sudden hiding can you do." "You haven't caught me yet," replied the giant, with a grin.

"You see, now that I am so small, I do not trust you to catch me. Why, maybe you'll all spank me, 'cause I tied you to my bed." "You won't believe I was done in fun, so I'll continue on the run." Then up a long and winding stairs the funny fellow sped.

Wee Windy still stayed right behind. "I'm full of tricks, you'll shortly find," exclaimed the giant. Then, right down the banister he slid.

It didn't take brave Windy long to hop on, too, and slide along. "Ha, ha!" he loudly laughed, "of me you can't get rid."

They went so fast they couldn't stop, and at the bottom took a flop. "Ah, now I have you," Windy cried. "You are a captured gent." The Tinsles and the mystic man rushed up. Said Scouty, "Now we can decide, for this young fellow, what shall be his punishment."

"Now wait," the little giant cried. "Before some of your plans are tried, let me suggest that we be friends. I'll give you all a treat."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

A neglected wife is like jam—a sweet thing put on the shelf.

"I'll bet you're hungry as can be. Well, come on, Tinsles, follow me. I'll lead you to my dining room, where we'll find heaps to eat."

"Say, that suggestion's mighty good," cried Goldy. "I am sure I could enjoy a bit of tasty food. This fellow's fair, at least."

So, to the dining room they went, and just a little while was spent in getting things all ready. Then they had a dandy feast.

HOLD CEREMONY AT CAPISTRANO MISSION NOV. 8

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 6.—The body of Monsignor St. John O'Sullivan, beloved padre of San Juan Capistrano mission, will be returned Wednesday to rest in the Indian cemetery at the mission, to the restoration of which he devoted his life. The body will be brought from Calvary cemetery.

A solemn mass will be sung Thursday morning, with Bishop John T. Cantwell officiating. The vaulted tomb will be dedicated as a memorial to his life and work following the mass. Above the tomb a bronze bust of the priest will be placed and a plaque will be erected in honor of his memory.

Scores of priests from all over Southern California will join in the procession which will form in the stone church and end in the Indian burial ground adjoining Fra. Junipero Serra's church. The Rev. Arthur J. Hutchinson of the mission will assist Bishop Cantwell in the dedication ceremonies.

CHINA MISSIONARY WORK IS OUTLINED

COSTA MESA, Nov. 6.—Over 80 women and girls were in attendance at the annual "mystery mother" dinner program given by women of the Missionary society and girls of the Queen Esther group of the Community church. Mrs. Grow S. Brown, former missionary to China spoke on "Missionary Work."

Mrs. Ruth Mackenzie sang "The Old Refrain," Krelser, "Dawn-ling," Cadman, and "Keep on Hoping." Maxwell, Miss Marion Nelson accompanied her. Mrs. Ramona Hartshorn gave two readings, "Estel at the Picture Show" and "Beautiful Belinda." Miss Thelma Allen spoke briefly on home missionary work and related some of her experiences while in a "deaconess" school in Montana. Miss Marion Nelson gave a short talk, relating college experiences at Asbury college in Kentucky. Miss Betty Lamberton, president of the Queen Esther group, spoke of the work in her organization.

Society members present were Mesdames Ica Clark, W. I. Lowe, Fred Long, James Gallagher, D. C. Allen, D. J. Dodge, E. A. Sandling, L. L. Davis, Henry Abrams, Vladimir Lonski, Loretta Pankle, Ruth Mackenzie, Herbert Baird, Frank Ballou, P. M. Thompson, Ed Bennett, Donald Gibson, Vernon Coyner, E. A. Randall, E. C. Pickering and H. B. McMurtry.

Mrs. Herbert Baird, president of the Yoyal Workers, announced that the class is holding a potluck dinner program November 13, at which the Rev. Lyman R. Bayard, a former minister, who has recently returned from a trip to Europe, will give an illustrated talk on the Passion play.

Party Is Held By Young People

SILVER ACRES, Nov. 6.—A group of 35 Silver Acres young people, all in costume and masks, gathered at the home of Miss Anna Williams recently for an old-fashioned party, which was held in the barn. Games were played during the evening and later refreshments were served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Junket, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson, Mrs. Hattie Drake, the Rev. M. Bodie, Mrs. Cain, Mrs. Ethel Cunningham, Miss Anna Williams, Miss Mary Shipley, Miss Jean Jiles, Miss Marge Brown, Miss Edith Scott, Miss Madge Russell, Miss Thelma Cain, Miss Leanne Cain, Miss Cora Kenner, Miss Blanche Baker, Miss Helen Harper, Miss Mable Cockerhan, Miss Stewart, Miss Nora Hess, Miss Hazel Kidd, Leo Scott, Jack Helmick, Jack Peterson, George Kidd, James Cockerhan, Kenneth Howard, Bobby Patterson, Howard Shipley, Clifford Buck and Charles Anderson.

H. B. COUNCIL SETS LICENSE ON DOGS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 6.—The city council adopted a dog ordinance last night. The new measure provides for $4 tax for female dogs and $2 for male dogs. A dog catcher will be appointed later. The ordinance provides for collars for all dogs to which must be attached the city license tags.

Work Rushed On Jetty Extension

NEWPORT, Nov. 6.—In order to facilitate the jetty extension work in connection with the federal improvement program now under way at Newport harbor, telephone will be installed by the Rohl-Connelly company between its barges, Catalina Island, and the mainland, it was announced yesterday.

Movements of the barges can be more accurately charted and checked in this manner, it was said, and the work speeded considerably. Almost 50,000 tons of rock have been dumped at the base of the west jetty to date, several hundred more large loads being required before the laying of top rock can be commenced. Work on the harbor dredging is expected to commence about the first of the year.

Newport Permits For Month $12,730

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 6.—Building permits for Newport Beach aggregated $12,730 for the month of October. It was announced today by Building Inspector A. M. Nelson. The total for October, 1933, was $14,875.

Totals for 1934 continue to lead aggregates for 1933. At this time last year building activities in the area amounted to $214,599. To date this year the total has reached $217,197. Permits for three new homes were issued in October permits.

SEW FOR NEEDY
BREA, Nov. 6.—All day meetings of the women of the Full Gospel Assembly are being held at the home of Miss Lucy Craig, 329 South Pomona. The morning hours are devoted to sewing, repairing garments which are to be sent to Oklahoma. Following a luncheon, the remainder of the day is given over to Bible study and discussion, led by Miss Craig.

CITIZENS ASK CITY HELP ON SEASHORE ROAD

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 6.—Echoes of the disastrous high tides which wrecked a 10 block area at West Newport during September were heard at last night's meeting of the NewportBeach city council when a body of property owners from that section, headed by Jack Brooks, appeared to ask city help in clearing Seashore drive of sand and debris continually washed up by the surf.

The committee claimed that there is often from six inches to two feet of sand and water in the street. Fire and health hazards in addition to the inconvenience were cited by the complainants. Floors were being pushed up and porches denuded by the sand-piling antics of the sea, it was claimed.

The matter was referred to the street superintendent, with power to act, following a discussion of more than 30 minutes duration, during which each of the petitioners presented his case.

Owners of private piers adjoining onto or over city property will pay a rental of $5 per year for the privilege of maintaining the wharfs, it was decided, when a resolution to that effect was passed. The new ruling will affect many property owners on Balboa Island, and some on the Balboa peninsula, it was said, and will net the city several hundred dollars a year.

Several matters were discussed with regard to the municipal pier at Newport Beach and Balboa, it being decided to open bids for the exclusive right to use the piers for the loading and unloading of passengers to fishing barge and live-bait boats. It was also decided to retain George Hiner as operator of the live-bait stand on the Newport pier, at a yearly rental of $600, without calling for bids.

Delinquent taxes, amounting to $12,215.00 on the tidelands north of Lido Isle, recently acquired by the city in order to facilitate government progress in dredging the bay, will be paid by the city, it was determined. It was also decided to post delinquent tax lists in the future, instead of publishing them, as had been the custom heretofore.

The report of the finance committee was approved, and bills against the city ordered paid, insurance policies now in effect, covering city owned cars, will be renewed, it was decided. The matter was thrown open to competitive bidding several weeks ago. The Salvation Army of Santa Ana was denied the right to canvass for funds in the city, owing to an ordinance prohibiting personal solicitation in the city. The council will next meet on November 13.

ARMISTICE DAY BAND FUNDS VOTED BY H. B. CITY COUNCIL; $2500 PARK OFFER RECEIVED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 6.—The city council in regular session last night gave additional support to the Armistice Day program to be held here November 12 by voting $225 out of the $2000 budgeted to the chamber of commerce for the employment of the Huntington Beach Municipal band of 60 pieces to lead the Armistice day parade and to play at the football game at the high school grounds in the afternoon.

The band is to receive $150 and $75 is to be applied on the expense of the city float in the parade. Members of all visiting bands will be provided with meals on Armistice day, $350 being appropriated by the chamber of commerce for this purpose.

Chief of Police George M. Gelzer was allowed funds to provide meals for visiting officers from other Orange county cities who will assist in handling the traffic here on Armistice day. It is expected there will be 50,000 visitors in the city that day.

Everett Ford, representing the local cooperative exchange of the unemployed, asked for a rebate of taxes on two lots at the corner of Alabama and Joliet streets which are being used by the exchange for garden. Ford also bid in a Ford tractor which the city had purchased, paying $125 for the tractor which the mayor auctioned off and which will be repaired by the members of the exchange and used for cultivating garden tracts from which products will not be sold but will be used by the unemployed.

The city received a quitclaim from J. C. Argue for the streets in the west end town lot oil field leased to Argue for oil drilling about two years ago when it was planned to put whistledowns in the streets. The plan was later abandoned when lot owners and the Standard Oil company refused to co-operate in the plan. The council acting on advice of City Attorney Ray Overacker accepted the quitclaim.

A. S. Williams, of Los Angeles, proposed a public address system for installation in Memorial hall. The matter was referred to the public buildings committee of the city council for a report at the next meeting.

C. W. Patrick tendered the council an offer of $2500 for the Seventeenth street park, a block of ground in the west end town lot oil field. The park is not now owned by the public, the rest rooms having been closed and there being no patronage for the park, which is surrounded by oil fields. The offer did not include the oil rights, the bidder stating that the land was to be used for an oil cleaning plant or dehydrator. May or Talbert expressed the opinion that the park was worth $7500 and might be traded by the city to good advantage in obtaining a park site more adapted to the needs of the public. The mayor said the matter would be taken under advisement by the park committee.

Report of the city treasurer and city clerk, showed the city funds in a general much improved condition. There was reported a cash balance of $66,998.85 of which $34,272.78 was in the general fund; $3,473.61 in the library fund; $933.15 funds and promotion fund; $27,209.29 street improvement revolving fund and the balance in bond funds. This showing is in the face of the new tax payments which are now due and will be delinquent after December 4.

Reports of the building inspector and street superintendent showed $423.29 in revenue collected during the month, of this $260 comes from the waste water disposal plant which is now self-supporting, or practically so.

Bannister undertakes to find out what Tracy King, orchestra leader, Bannister is an author and former newspaper man. He has visited King recently and has gained King's confidence. Among those suspected are Juliet France, blond, pretty and known to have visited King shortly before his death; Herman Scurlough who wrote King a threatening letter; and James J. Coleman, a "tough" and a "bad" actor. It is also known that Melvina Holister, middle-aged spinster, has quarreled with King recently. Al Dragan, friend of King's, is found dead in a wrecked automobile.

Bannister persuades the police chief to let Juliet come to his aunt's home, ostensibly as a guest, on the theory that if the girl believes herself free they can learn more about her.

Parrott is located in St. Louis and a detective sent to bring him back.

Daisy Connor, maid in the Coleman home, told Bannister she knew something about the murder.

CHAPTER XXXV

Apparently Daisy Connor was unconscious of the dramatic effect of her words.

"I remember," she said, "because Mrs. Coleman and I were the only ones in the house. Mr. Coleman had driven off in his car right after dinner. Mrs. Coleman was in her bedroom and when the telephone rang about eight o'clock I answered it."

"It was a woman's voice on the phone. She wanted to know if Parker Coleman was there and I said no, he wasn't. Then she said, 'If he comes in soon will you tell him Denise Lang called?'"

"I said, yes, I'd tell him. I went back to my room and looked at that picture of Tracy King. I've got it in a silver frame I bought at Herbert's. Somehow I couldn't see how a girl who was going to marry Tracy King could be waiting time on Parker Coleman. Not of course, that Mr. Coleman isn't nice enough—only he's nothing like Tracy King!"

"After a while I picked up the book I'd been reading and went on with it. It must have been close to nine o'clock when the telephone rang again and I went down and answered it. It was Denise Lang again. I heard her voice often enough to know. 'Is Parker Coleman there?' she asked and I said no, he wasn't. She didn't say any more but just 'Thank you' and hung up."

"Well, next morning when I saw the papers and read what had happened to poor Mr. King I nearly cried my eyes out. I couldn't think of anything except that I'd never see him again or hear him sing those beautiful songs. For almost a year I haven't missed a Thurs-

CHAMBER TOLD PLANS TO DRILL H. B. TIDELANDS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 6.—Ernie Pyle, manager of the Hancock Oil company of Long Beach, in a talk before the chamber of commerce at the weekly meeting and luncheon held at noon Monday at the Golden Bear cafe, told of the plans of the company for operating its lease recently granted by the city council on the tidelands in front of the city. Pyle stated that his company was the sole owner of the lease and said there were no royalties owned by any one except the city and the Hancock company.

Pyle said his company would go before the legislature in January and request that the tidelands be granted to the city, the state to receive half of the one-sixth royalty provided in the lease for the city.

He said his company would not drill wells out in the ocean, but would drill from the shore line and whipstock the wells out below Twenty-third street, an area in which only Standard Oil company is drilling and then only on its own leases. Between Twenty-third street and Forty-fifth street there are no intentionally whipstocked wells into the tidelands, it is said.

Pyle declared that the revenue to the city and state would be enormous. He said the city was taking the only possible step in leasing the lands by which the city could derive any revenue. He said all the expense in the effort to obtain the tideland grant would be paid by his company and that when drilling was started the city would be paid $50,000 cash in addition to the $6000 already paid the city at the time the council signed the lease.

List Candidates Of Mesa Chamber

COSTA MESA, Nov. 6.—Dr. Carl R. Jackson and Harold Grauel are leading as candidates for the presidency of the Costa Mesa Chamber of Commerce, according to a report given out today by the nominating committee. The position of first vice president will go to Walter H. Poord or R. G. Chambers. Albert D. Duke and A. L. Pinkley are candidates for the position of second vice president.

Nominees for secretary are John Wilcox and L. R. Daughenbaugh, and for treasurer, Charles Teufel and James O. Tallman. Those present were Ethel Tyler, Muriel Sprinkle, Evelyn Etchandy, Freda Graves, Geraldine Newsom, Barbara Eggleston, Edith Marie Hubert and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert.

The results of the election will be reported at the next regular meeting of the club. The nominating committee included Charles Teufel, Harold Grauel and L. R. Daughenbaugh. Leroy P. Anderson is the retiring president.

LIONS PLAN PARTY

BREA, Nov. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Peterkin, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hogue and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Neuls as the host group are sending out invitations for a "49er party," which is to be given on the evening of November 9 for Lions and their wives. The party will meet at the city hall.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

SILVER ACRES, Nov. 6.—Edith Marie Hubert entertained a group of her young friends recently at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hubert. Games were played and later at a gayly decorated table, with jockey hats as favors, the guests were served with cream and cake and candies.

Those present were Ethel Tyler, Muriel Sprinkle, Evelyn Etchandy, Freda Graves, Geraldine Newsom, Barbara Eggleston, Edith Marie Hubert and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert.

The girl nodded her head. "I haven't any way to know for sure," she admitted, "but I think it was about an hour later. I didn't look at the clock, so of course I couldn't absolutely swear to it."

It was as near an explicit answer as they could get. Gainey asked several other questions. Then suddenly Daisy Connor got to her feet.

"My land!" she exclaimed. "Look at what time it's getting to be! I'd no idea it was so late! I've got to hurry!"

She stood nervously fastening the buttons of her coat. Gainey was on his feet, too. "I'm glad you came in, Miss Connor," he said. "This may mean a lot. There's no knowing how much, of course, but it's bound to help. We've got to find out everything we can. The police are doing their part."

The maid's sharp exclamation stopped him. "Oh!" she said, "you aren't going to tell the police what I've told you, are you?"

"Don't you think they should know it?"

Miss Connor shook her head wildly. "You mustn't tell them," she said. "If you do I'll lose my job. I just know I will! Mrs. Coleman will find out about it and she'll fire me! Oh, please don't say anything to the police!"

"Well, all right," Gainey agreed, "if that's the way you feel about it, although I don't see what harm it could do. But suppose I want to get in touch with you some time. How can I reach you?"

She gave him a telephone number and told him when to call. Then, with a last glance at the clock, she hurried away.

Gainey leaned back in his chair and looked at Bannister. "And that's that!" he said. "What do you think of it?"

"Interesting," Bannister told him. "I suppose you are at least a hundred other young women in the room who kept framed photographs of Tracy King on their dressing tables."

"A hundred!" jeered Gainey. "There are thousands of 'em! But what of that?"

"Oh, nothing. I was just thinking about it."

Gainey sat up straighter. "Look here," he said. "I think she was telling the truth. You should have seen how scared she was when she came in here. I had to keep at

Exchange Group Names Officers

HANSEN, Nov. 6.—Oscar Guinn was named president of the Stanton unit of the United Co-operative exchange at a meeting of the group held recently in the commissary.

Ralph Vipond was elected first vice president; Warren Jones, second vice president; C. C. Sowers, treasurer; Herbert Hanneman, secretary; John Karraker, business manager; S. L. Hilton, farm superintendent.

Plans were formulated for a box social and card party to be held November 9 at the commissary in Stanton. The public is invited.

PARTY ENJOYED BY CLUB MEMBERS

SILVER ACRES, Nov. 6.—Members of the Silver Acres Woman's club entertained their husbands and friends at a novel party recently. It was held in an unoccupied house belonging to Mrs. William Davis and was decorated to resemble an old fashioned barn.

All the guests wore masks and were in costume, and prizes were given to those showing the most originality and humor in their disguise. The women's prize went to Mrs. M. M. Black and Robert Baker won the men's prize. Margaret Smith was awarded the girl's prize and Melvin Patterson the boy's. A prize for little girls was given to Joanne Davis.

A fish pond, games, old time music and square dances were enjoyed. Cookies and punch were served.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Head, Mr. and Mrs. William Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bleckese, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Melvin, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Pearl Davis, Mrs. M. M. Black, Mrs. M. A. Starkey, of Compton; Mrs. Minnie Smith, Mrs. Hattie Drake, Mrs. Grace Neff, Mrs. Alta Neff, Mrs. Bertha Davis, Mrs. Flo Baker, Miss Velda Davis, Miss Blanche Baker, Miss Margaret Smith, Mr. Robert Baker, Hossom, Hurl, Danny, Head, Mervin Patterson and Joanne Davis.

COUNCIL TOLD OF SIDEWALK PROJECT

PLACENTIA, Nov. 6.—Placentia city councilmen held a routine business session when they met at the chamber of commerce hall Monday night. Mayor C. R. Young presided.

A progress report was made on the sidewalk that is being built with SERRA labor. The work was opened under the CWA. When completed Placentia will have three miles of sidewalks. Property owners are being assessed about 20 cents a lineal foot for materials in the project.

BREA GIRL AND JAMES K. ESTES WED IN CHURCH

BREA, Nov. 6.—The marriage of Miss Catherine Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Moore of 238 South Redwood, to James K. Estes of Torrance took place November 3 at the Congregational church, with the Rev. B. H. Blanche, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating at the single ring ceremony.

Three fan-shaped lattices, intertwined with fern and sweet peas, potted palms and baskets of chrysanthemums, the whole lighted only with candles, marked the altar where the bride and groom stood. The bride was attired in a white satin gown, and wore a shoulder length veil caught to her head with orange blossoms. She carried bride's roses and gardenias.

Miss Jeanie Dean McCabe, maid of honor, wore a yellow organdie and the bridesmaids, Miss Maxine Loring and Miss Inez Jones, wore green and pink organdie, all carrying bouquets of sweet peas. Little Rebecca Estes, daughter of the groom, attired in orchid organdie, carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

A cousin of the groom, Lee Haskins, was best man and usher were Raymond Cain and Oswald Melsner. Paul Woodard played "The Melody of Love" during the ceremony and afterward "Bastille" and "I Love You Truly" and "My Prayer," the latter a composition by James Beatty, a friend of the Moore family. Phyllis Smith sang, "Sweet Mystery of Life," all accompaniments being played by Paul Woodard.

Following a dinner the newly wedded couple left by automobile for Crestline where they are staying for their honeymoon.

KREG REVIVAL BROADCAST IS MOST POPULAR

The Parrott Revival broadcast, a daily feature from KREG at 4:30 p. m., is being enthusiastically received by listeners in Orange county, according to reports. Evangelist Everett R. Parrott has on two occasions asked for a showing of hands in the revival tent of those who have been listening to the program and enjoy it. Several hundred hands were lifted both times. Many people have told how they came to the meeting because they heard the broadcasts. Although the revival has been in progress only one week, the big tent seating 1600 people is now packed practically for every service. The tent is located at First Street and Orange Avenue in Santa Ana.

The "Parrott Revival Broadcast" is conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Rusthof, associates of Evangelist Parrott. The Rusthofs have been in radio broadcasting for the past six years and have appeared on stations in Oregon, Texas, Louisiana and Florida, as well as several in California. Letters of commendations from listeners have been received mentioning the worth of the broadcast.

KEEP SMILING ON AIR THIS EVENING

"The Principles of Chiropractic" is the topic of the lecture for this week to be given by Dr. James Workman of Doctors Workman, two of Orange county's leading chiropractors, during the "Keep Smiling" program on KREG from 8 to 9 tonight.

"Of course, a full explanation of the principles of chiropractic cannot be made in the few minutes devoted to the lecture, but I will outline the fundamental principles which will be easily understood by all who hear the broadcast," Dr. Workman said. Music on tonight's "Keep Smiling" program will include "The Glow Worm," Lincke; "Minuet," Drogman; "Idillio," Lack; and "The Broken Melody," Van Blerne. The well received "Keep Smiling" program is broadcast from KREG each Tuesday at the same hour.

Girl Doomed to Guillotine

Arrested while on a spree financed by 2,000 francs she had stolen from her murdered father, Violette Noziers, 18, was convicted in Paris courts and faces execution on the guillotine. She is shown above as she appeared in the prisoner's dock during her trial. She also was charged with attempting to poison her mother.

They Aided in Return of Mrs. Stoll

The couple shown here—the Rev. E. Arnold Clegg, Indianapolis, Ind., minister and cousin of the Stoll family, and Mrs. Clegg—were first to see Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Louisville, Ky., society woman, after she had been released from a kidnapper. Mrs. Thomas Robinson Jr., wife of the supposed abductor, brought Mrs. Stoll to the Clear house following payment of $50,000 ransom.

Defies NRA On Retail Code

An important test of the controversial NRA retail code is expected in the court fight of Reginald S. French, Jr., Middleville, Mich., feed dealer, charged with violating an injunction forbidding him to disregard the NRA coal code. French is shown here, smiling, in Grand Rapids jail, before he pleaded not guilty and was released on $3000 bond.

Elegant Smile

America is to get an eyeful of French elegance through the efforts of Ambassador Renee Jouve (above), named "Miss Paris" and sent here to exhibit the sumptuous creations of the French couturiers. Her broad smile on landing at New York indicates she enjoys her assignment.

OLD BUT VITAL ISSUES INVOLVED
AT U. C. L. A.

In the contest over at U. C. L. A., we find that it is the same old issue that has always disturbed certain classes when progress was being made.

Whether it was Galileo or Christ or Palissy, the person who is trying to emphasize or learn new ideas has a rough road to travel. We suppose we send our young people to college to broaden their minds and to enable them to always evaluate facts as they are presented and to differentiate truth from error.

We parents, we believe, as a rule, are desirous of having our young people well equipped to meet all the ideas that they will have to meet in after life and to be so equipped that they will be able to throttle error, because they have been taught how in our institutions of learning.

An institution that says to young people: "You cannot have an open forum, you cannot listen to addresses, the logic of which and the conclusions of which we do not approve," we know confesses itself a failure. It declares itself unable to so equip these young people for life that they will be able to meet the ideas of others head-on.

It isn't any wonder that Harry Woodburn Chase, chancellor of New York university declares, in an article in the November number of "The American Mercury": "The colleges are all cut from the same pattern. They are far more orthodox than most churches. This is not accidental. They are drawn into conformity by a series of influences which operate on them all, and mould most of them all too easily into the traditional pattern of academic respectability."

Mr. Chase was at one time president of the University of Illinois and also the University of North Carolina. He is a man in position to know. He says: "College students are, on the whole, a conservative and conventional lot. Departures from the prevailing mores are harshly dealt with."

He then goes on to emphasize that over large areas of the country, where fraternities are taken seriously, these wage successful war against individuality. He quotes a well-known dean of men's advice to a new student: "The way to succeed here is to get into the rut and let yourself be carried along."

How, under such circumstances, with the fear of expulsion if they differ and if they think, can we expect our young people to be trained and thoroughly prepared for a constantly changing world?

This is the real issue at U. C. L. A. President Robert G. Sproul of the University of California, who is the superior officer of Dr. Moore, made two or three significant statements on his arrival in Los Angeles, when he was asked if he approved an open forum, which was the real issue on which the students were suspended. Dr. Sproul said: "Well, I have an open forum at Berkeley. I presided over the first meeting myself and other faculty members have presided over them ever since."

The truth is that if the faculty does not provide an open forum, the students will provide one for themselves, and they ought to. He made another statement, not directly upon the issue, but collateral to it, in response to questions concerning Communism: "I disapprove of Communists who use violence and I disapprove of vigilantes who use violence. They are both nuisances and one breeds the other."

It is refreshing to listen to the voice of as intelligent leadership as that. We wish that all of our colleges and universities could be shot through with such ideas.

SANITY WILL SOON RETURN

Election and the terrible campaign through which we have passed will soon be history. We can speak of it today with greater freedom than we could during these days when prejudice, fear, and we are sorry to say, even malice in some cases, was swaying the minds of many.

As we are removed further and further from these weeks, we are confident that many who have feared that there was going to be an entire collapse will wonder how they ever approached that state of mind. No matter how election goes today California is secure.

Some of the bitterest conflicts in our political history are being fought out, not only here in California, but in many other parts of the country. One only needs to think of what is going on in Minnesota, in Wisconsin, and in Massachusetts,—to mention but a few,—to learn that California is not having a monopoly of a tense and a bitter political campaign.

There is no danger of any one who believes in force and violence getting possession of the government. The principles of democracy are still believed in by the masses of the people and probably the net result will be the shattering of faith in the motives and purposes of machinery which is put into motion for the deliberate creation of a state of mind.

In every campaign, one on the sidelines, watching the show, is inclined to ask, "Why so hot, little man?" It is easy for some to work themselves into a frothing frenzy. Sometimes there is provocation. But most of the time it is a temporary spasm superinduced by a great desire to have what one's competitor also wants as passionately as he.

Tomorrow we will move along the same old route that we moved yesterday. The hopes of some, of course, will be lower and the hopes of some will be higher. But the general economic system, under which we are working, will be the same, and the laws governing its operation will be just as kindly and just as relentless as before.

These laws seem to care little about who is elected. Dr. Huxley at one time said that education consisted in learning the laws of the universe and then adapting yourself to those laws. What we all should do is to learn the laws that are operating in our economic and industrial life and then adapt ourselves to those laws.

To be sure, there is a difference of opinion and a very serious difference of opinion as to what those laws are. But there is no difference of opinion, among intelligent people, on the fact that neither the candidate nor the official makes these laws, and, strange to say, as we observe it, these laws are always really out of harmony with avarice and greed.

And when avarice and greed hold sway and through their power are able to operate in a fashion regardless of the universal law, society as a whole comes to grief. As Will Rogers said: "The people think that this election is a historic event. They will find later that it was simply marking time."

Our objective should be higher and bigger than the election of any public official. If it is not, we are doomed to deep disappointment even if our desired public official wins.

THE FUNERAL OF A KING

Alexander of Yugo-Slavia was buried amid all the pomp and pageantry of state. There was genuine sorrow on the part of most of his people. There was no evidence of anything to the contrary.

That does not mean, however, that the opposition to what Alexander stood for joined in the mourning. Many a Croat, silent in public, in secret had the feeling of satisfied revenge and hate.

What we read in the papers, and what we saw in the movie houses, was all on the surface. It was all true. But only a part of the story was told. The young King Peter may be no more secure than was his father.

All this has not been true when a like tragic fate overtook our martyred presidents. When Booth fired his fatal shot in Ford's theater in Washington on the night of April 14, 1865, every malicious word spoken against Lincoln was forgotten.

From that moment he became the "man of the ages." It is difficult to describe the sinking of heart experienced by the people of the whole country when McKinley and Garfield were assassinated. The sorrow was genuine and universal. They were the representatives of the whole people.

California voters need no urging to vote tomorrow. But voting is not enough. The wise citizen will remember why he voted as he did, long after the election results have been recorded. He will be particularly careful to remember the appeal which secured his vote.

The menace, real or fictitious, of the defeated faction will begin to fade as election day ends. The responsibility of the winner will remain—and grow.

Today, as the political thunder climaxes, common sense counsels each of us to note the major promises politics offers us, file them away and be prepared to compare future performance with these promises.

Every hope of improving government is involved in this. The average political platform is like a blank check passed out to the public. Its only value is the name of the candidate who issues it. It represents no fixed amount of service or loyalty or ability until after election. And it represents nothing unless voters force successful candidates to translate promises into accomplishment—by remembering.

Candidate John Doe loudly assures us that he will reorganize government. When a campaign is particularly hot as this one has been for many of the contestants, he even may be specific, naming the precise points where he will set to work. It is our business to see that he remembers his promise after the election.

We cannot expect candidates to make good on all their promises. We can expect them to try. And some of them will try—and keep on trying—if we are able to recall their specific pledges to them when the going gets rough.

Lost and Found

Christian Science Monitor
How old is a codfish? Last week a Boston fisherman found a ring in the stomach of a codfish in his catch. The ring has been identified by the Rev. E. T. Drake of the First Presbyterian Church of Orange, Texas, as one he lost while swimming at Corpus Christi, Texas, twenty-eight years ago.

This has started fishermen debating possible ages codfish may attain. Some skeptics find it hard to believe, even in the face of this evidence, that a codfish lives to be 28. Furthermore, they think it a long swim from the Gulf of Mexico to the New England fishing grounds.

This story was bound to start up an "I remember" chorus. From Altoona, Penna., comes a dispatch that while making a rock garden Adie Black found a watch lost thirty years ago when the ground was part of his father's farm.

Sixty years ago a workman building a brick wall to inclose the safe in the First National Bank of Sterling, Ill., lost $40 in currency. When the wall was torn down recently the money was found in good condition.

David J. Carrough, of Ramsey, N. J., reports finding on his farm a turtle on which the initials "J. D. C.—1865" were still faintly discernible. They had been carved there by Mr. Carrough's father sixty-nine years before.

The chronicle would be complete now if someone could only find American prosperity which was mislaid "way back in 1929."

New Train Equalled Canadian Speed
Record

The San Bernardino Sun
An interesting and somewhat humiliating fact has come to light, in connection with the great run of that streamlined train from Los Angeles to New York in 56 hours and 55 minutes. The transcontinental record was not broken by that notable feat. The Union Pacific had merely duplicated, with amazing exactness, a record made by Canada nine years ago.

In 1925, it appears, a Diesel-electric car had run from Montreal to Vancouver in the same time, to a minute. The Canadian National railroad people lost no time in reminding the world of that fact. The distances were about the same.

Waiting For The Votes To Be Counted

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TO A TYPEWRITING MACHINE

All the hits that Shelley knew,
Byron's every virile lay,
Hide somewhere inside of you
While the world rolls on its way.
Homer's winged words are there—
Tales of conquest, songs of war;
Sitting in my swivel chair,
I can wake to life once more.

You provide for me the means
To bring back the shadowy past;
Many dim and distant scenes
You can capture and hold fast.
Clicking busily the while
Those fast flying little keys
May lead on, mile after mile,
Over many lands and seas.

But no magic gift is mine;
Tolling hour after hour,
I can draw no stirring line
From the reservoir of power.
But no golden gift have I,
Tolling in my dingy den;
Frequently I must rely
On the work of other men.

When the little song is troiled
That I've sought so long to write,
I review it, and behold!
It is commonplace and trite.
Not a syllable is there
That is worthy of recall;
Neither of us has the flair—
We are just machines, that's all.

Pop was smoking a cigar with a loving expression and ma said, it doesn't look as if we are ever going to find a name for that little grand dawdler of ours, Willyum.

Meaning my sister Gladdis's new baby, and pop said, if you really want to be original why don't you let her go without a name. She'll be able to digest her little vitamins and calories just a same, and it will be quite a novelty to hear visitors say, How is little What's-a-name? or Where is little Wozzles?

Such an idea, the idea, ma said. We thwart of every name in the calendar but not one of them seemed to be just the fateful one. Really Willyum! that baby seems to shed names like a duck's back. And to add complexity to complexity, Gladdis has decided that she wants to give her 2 names, and pop said, Well in that case the visitors would meanderly have to say, How's little So-and-so What's-you-caller?

Anyway both Gladdis and I are fatalists in the matter and we've decided to wait with restrained patience till a name from nowhere appears as though on some magic horizon. I admit it sounds like a rosy prospect, but believe me the strange of vain waiting for the perfect name is almost worse than the strange of thinking up badly fitting ones yourself, and though there may be perhaps a vague remote possibility of success, believe me I'd call it neither a glowing possibility nor a rosy prospect, ma said.

Not a rosy, the miracle has happened and there's your 2 names, Nora Rosie, pop said. Well of all things, I was positive of it and yet I wasn't so sure, and now I'm vindicated, ma said. Nora Rosie, I'm going to call up Gladdis this moment and find out her reaction, she said.

Which she did, her reaction being in favor of it.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

THE EITHER-OR FALLACY

America is just now being bombarded by apostles of the either-or school of political and economic thinking.

There are Democrats who insist that we must either swallow the New Deal whole or acquiesce in widespread starvation, spreading unemployment, and a piratical orgy of unethical business.

There are Republicans who insist that we must either renounce the New Deal from beginning to end or come out frankly for a sweeping regimentation of private enterprise through some personal dictatorship or a complete swing to socialism or communism.

There are liberal journals, like the New Republic, which say, as it did in a recent issue, "Fundamentally, the choice is a sharp and exclusive one, which admits of no practical compromise. Either a government must allow private capitalists to run the show as best they can, or it must run the show itself. Everything a government may do to influence the crucial factors of price-making, regulation of production or investment, is an interference with the processes of private enterprise. If it interferes in behalf of private interests, as a capitalist government usually does, it merely makes the existing confusion worse confounded. If it interferes in behalf of abundant production, of raising the standard of living of the masses, it jams the whole capitalist machinery. What is required is not interference with some other power that has different interests, but exercise of the power by those whose interests exclude exploitation." If the national mind follows the lead of the sort of Democrats, or the sort of Republicans, or the sort of opinion I have just noted, we are in for rough going for a long stretch of years.

The flaw in this either-or sort of thinking is the assumption that the "best interest" of private enterprise lies in exploitation, in grinding the faces of the poor, in restricted production, in high prices, in low wages, and the whole round of anti-social policies that did so much to land us in the depression, and in the accompanying assumption that by some subtle magic of the ballot we can run this vast and complex economic machine of ours so that it will produce lavishly and put the fruits of its efficiency at the disposal of the millions.

Both assumptions are just about 100 per cent groundless. It is not the inherent unsoundness of private enterprise, but a lack of vision regarding what the best interest of private enterprise is, that is holding us back. Business needs less lashing and more leadership. The things the masses need most today are just the things that will make business boom.

A union of socially-minded leadership in business and politics, working together rather than at cross purposes, can solve our dilemmas without flirting with false gods or shattering the basic elements of the American tradition.

AS HE IS

It is a parent's way to set a pattern for his child and try with all his might to have the child follow that pattern. Sometimes there are very good reasons why the child cannot follow the pattern. It is then that a parent's good sense and understanding come to the fore. He accepts the child as he is and begins from there.

Take a child who has had a series of illnesses so that he has lost two years of school. He has lost more than those two school years. He has lost the spontaneous growth of childhood. He has lost the intimate association with other children which is one of the finest stimulants to growth that a child enjoys. He has lost the right time for learning. There is a right time, a particularly right season for certain lines of growth and development. If the child misses that season it is a grave matter for him. What he might have learned with no difficulty now as a matter of course, must now be painstakingly pored over and mastered. Time once lost is very, very hard to make up, if ever it can be made up.

If you are dealing with such a child either in school or at home, consider this well. A child who has lost a year, two years, because of illness, bears scars of his illness. It is unfair and unjust to expect and demand of him the same power and success that children of his age, but without his unfortunate experiences, manifest naturally. To begin drilling him, reminding him of his loss, scolding about his deficiencies, telling him there is no reason why he ought not to catch up with his classes, is little short of cruelty. He is not able to work extra hard because he has been ill. Illness does not usually make one feel stout and active. Nor can he make up time merely by giving time to his studies. There is more than the study of a lesson that goes into the development of a school child. Time adds its inimitable qualities and these are not to be made up so easily.

Accept the child as he is and teach the child to accept his position. That will go far toward setting him in the right attitude for work. Instead of loading him down with despondency you inspire him with hope. Take it easy at the start and understand that this boy or this girl must accept the loss of time. Count that time out and allow for it. Once he gets started he will gain power and the experience that illness and convalescence and the life of a sickroom furnished him will begin to tell. No experience is lost and most of them can be turned to good account if they are given room to make themselves felt. The convalescent child will have certain staying power that suffering brought him and it will contribute to his new growth. Don't rush it. Give it time and it will work for the child.

And one other point about this. If you have set a pattern of your own making without consulting the sort of child this is, you may have to change the pattern because you cannot change the child. That is not such a misfortune as you might believe. Nature did a better job with this child than you can do unless you go along with her. Give the child you have, as he is, a chance. He may be a far better child than the one you visioned.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
